Herter Brands Cuba
As Red BeachheadU.S. Secretary
Urges OAS Act
To Meet Threat

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter charged Wednesday that Cuba is communism's beachhead in the Americas. And the goal, he said, is to overthrow every government in the hemisphere by force.

Herter urged the Organization of American States to take immediate steps against Communist intervention and denounce Cuba's "tolerance and encouragement of such intervention."

In Havana, Prime Minister Fidel Castro shouted his defiance of the United States and the OAS, declaring, "We shall be the friends of the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of (Red) China."

Blistering Speech

Herter, in his blistering 35-minute speech to the OAS foreign ministers conference, declared: "We should call for effective resistance to these efforts of the Chinese-Soviet bloc and restate the validity of our regional association and its principles as guide and instrument for our continual cooperation." Herter did not detail what action should be taken.

As the secretary spoke, President Eisenhower told a news conference in Washington he sees hope for ending the U.S.-Cuban crisis. He indicated he would not rule out a summit meeting with Castro and other American heads of government—if it had a good chance of proving useful.

Herter's Indictment

Herter made these points in recounting the history of the Castro revolution in Cuba:

1. The Communist party, under another name—Popular Socialist party—is the only one recognized in Cuba.
2. Cuban soil is being used as a base to export communism to other American republics.
3. Cuba has violated every one of the seven points in the Santiago pact, designed to protect democracy and sovereignty in Latin America. These include the rights of a free press, free elections and protected human rights.

Herter cited Castro's speech of last March 26, in which the bearded Prime Minister said Cuba is not obligated to observe the Rio Pact—considered the major defense document of the American continents—because his regime had not signed it.

Herter said that if Cuba really fears aggression from the United States, "she can find her best guarantees against it in the OAS."

Brandt Will Run
Against Adenauer

BONN, Germany (AP)—Socialist leaders Wednesday chose West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt as their candidate for chancellor to oppose Konrad Adenauer in next year's election. Accepting Brandt promptly announced he is an unwavering defender of the Western alliance.

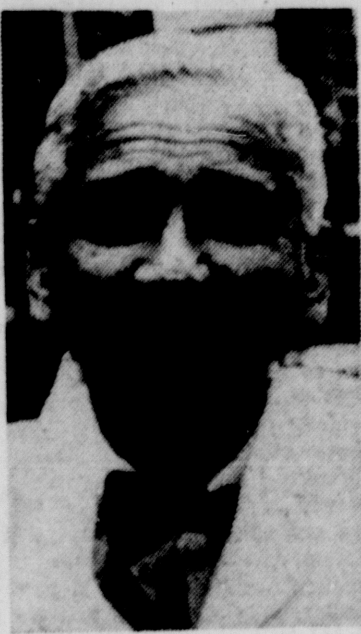

The ruling Christian Democrats charge that a Socialist government would lead West Germany out of NATO.

Brandt told the session of party leaders that nominated him: "Our place is inside the system of Western society and the system of Western security. The alliance with the United States remains the absolute center of our foreign policy."

Brandt, who is 46, will try next year to wrest the nation's leadership from Adenauer, 84, whose Christian Democrats have won West Germany ever since the country was formed 11 years ago.

VACCINE APPROVED—The live virus polio vaccine developed by Dr. Albert Sabin (above), of Cincinnati, has been approved for use in this country next year, the government announced yesterday. U.S. Atom Sub
Blazes Ocean
Trail In Arctic

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. atomic submarine Searadon has written a dramatic page of undersea history at the top of the world by cruising a new north-west passage from the Atlantic to Pacific Ocean.

Sometimes submerged, sometimes on the surface, the submarine threaded its way through a narrow channel among islands and icebergs to mark out a route which someday could serve as an alternate to the Panama Canal as a connecting link between the two oceans.

In announcing the voyage Wednesday, the Navy said the Searadon added some new firsts of its own to the pioneering polar saga already written by its sister nuclear subs Nautilus, Skate and Sargo.

In addition to charting the new route through the channels north of Canada, it became the first submersible to dive under an iceberg, going down 108 feet. Later it capped that performance by cruising under another giant berg—1,470 feet long—at a depth of more than 300 feet.

The Searadon entered the Parry channel on Aug. 15, two weeks after leaving Portsmouth, N.H., and six days later emerged in the Beaufort Sea north of Alaska. Then it turned due north for a run to the North Pole.

If it had continued on to Hawaii, it would have covered 7,371 miles from the nuclear sub port of New London, Conn. The trip via the Panama Canal is 6,707 miles.

The 2,360-ton vessel, carrying 51 enlisted men, 8 officers and a group of civilian scientists and technicians, followed a route that had been negotiated in part by five different surface ships.

By cruising submerged across the McClure Strait north of Banks Island and emerging in the Beaufort Sea, the Searadon forged the missing link in the Northwest Passage.

Cheering crowds greeted the vice president as his motorcade wound through the downtown district and showers of confetti rained down from office buildings and the VFW convention hotel headquarters.

Nixon, a VFW member, remarked that he had attended its last seven national conventions, then added:

"This will be the last time I will speak to you as vice president, and, depending upon what happens in November, it may be the last time as an elected official of the United States."

A chorus of "no no" erupted from the convention floor, to which the VFW had admitted the general public.

In his foreign policy remarks, Nixon declared the United States "must always be firm without being belligerent."

And, he added, such was the policy followed by President Eisenhower when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev torpedoed the Paris summit conference in May. Khrushchev never intended the summit conference to succeed, Nixon said. But he declared at one point in his speech: "We must be ready to negotiate outstanding differences with representatives of the Communist world anywhere, any time there is a reasonable chance of reaching agreement."

Nixon declared the United States stands first militarily, economically, scientifically and educationally in the world and that "we have the will and determination to maintain that position."

Direct debates between Nixon and Kennedy have been in the making since the nominating conventions, awaiting the revision of the law.

The bill applies only to the current campaign.

Live Virus Polio Vaccine
Cleared For Use In U.S.

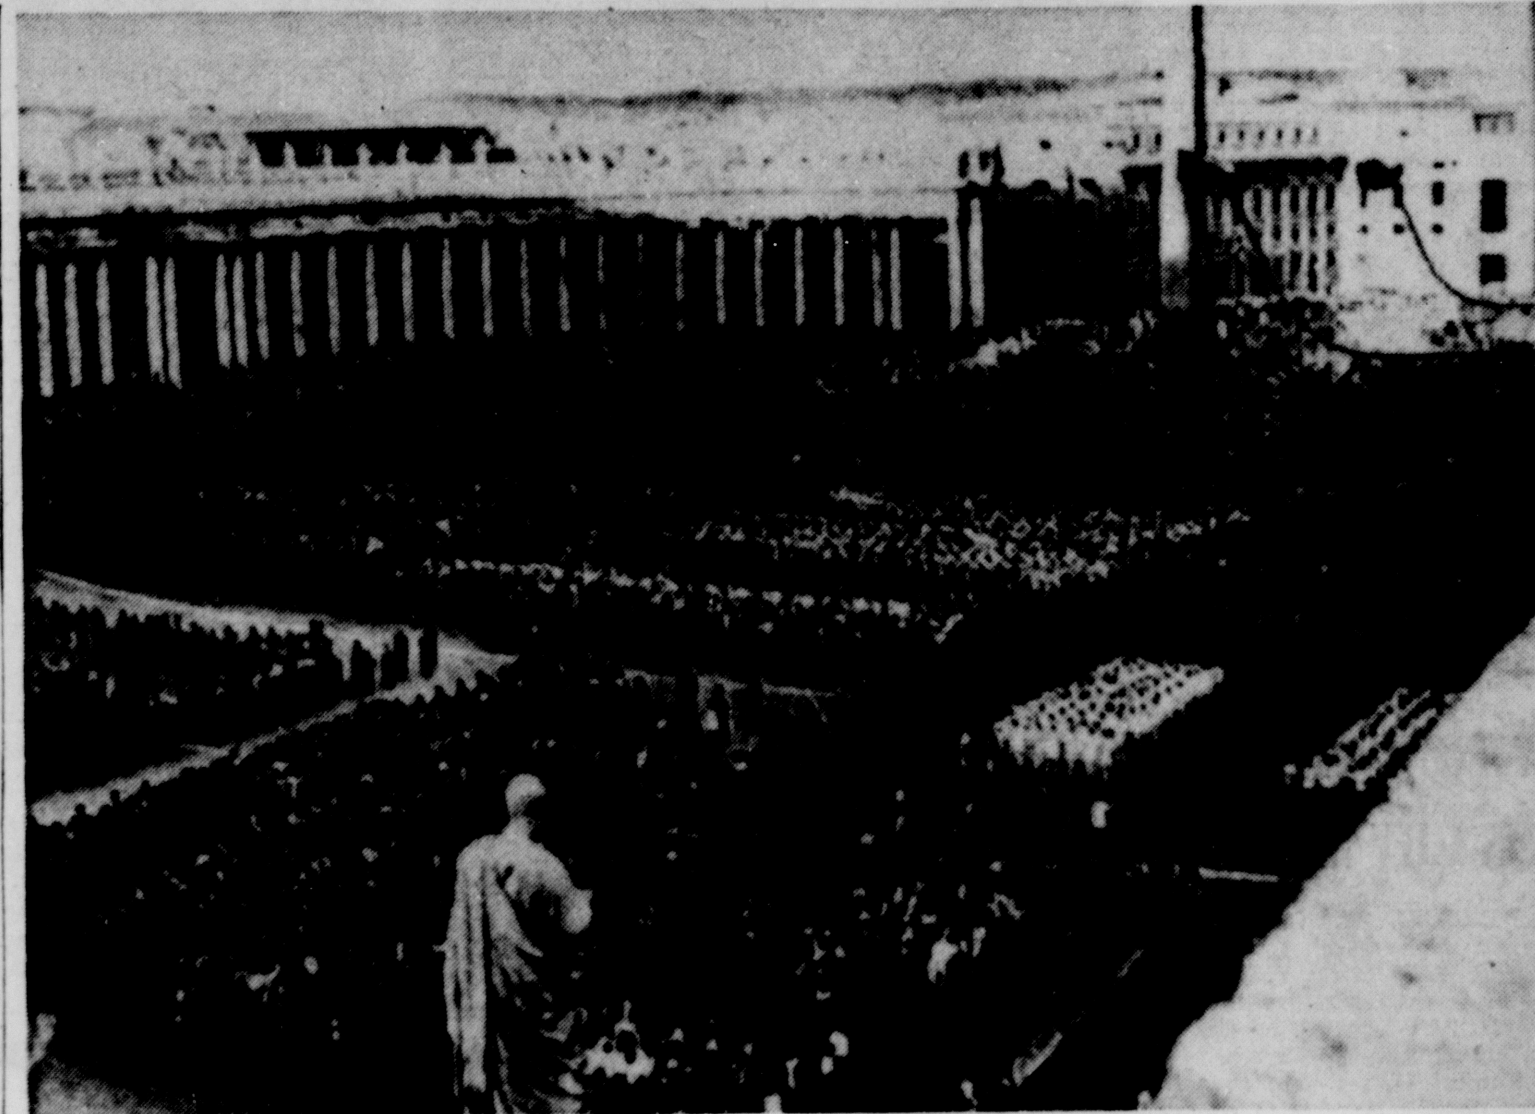

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Wednesday announced plans to license live virus polio vaccine for use in this country next year—ending a long controversy.

Surgeon Gen. Leroy E. Burney of the U.S. Public Health Service told a news conference, "It is our considered judgment that live virus polio vaccine is suitable for use in the United States."

Burney added that the live virus vaccine, which can be taken by mouth in pill, liquid or candy form, will not replace the currently used Salk vaccine, which requires needle injection and is made from virus that is killed.

"There is need for both and they will complement each other," Burney added.

He expressed hope that avail-

Congo Soldiers
Flown To Scene
Of Bloody Clash

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Steel-helmeted Congolese soldiers streamed by airlift Wednesday to Kasai province, where bloody tribal fighting parallels the growth of a secessionist movement.

Six hundred or more soldiers were reported sent in.

Premier Patrice Lumumba has vowed to keep the Congo intact and there was speculation that the operation in Kasai, east of Leopoldville province, may presage an invasion of rebellious Katanga province, farther east.

Katanga itself was more immediately concerned with Lumumba demonstrations at Albertville, on the western shore of Lake Tanganyika.

Mali U.N. soldiers, Belgian paratroopers and Katanga provincial soldiers were reported to have calmed that town after disturbances in which four Congolese were killed and three Belgian soldiers wounded.

Lumumba called for Irish U.N. soldiers to get out of Kivu province, north of Katanga, and make way for Congolese "who alone can guarantee the evacuation of Belgian soldiers in this region."

A communique issued by the Premier's office charged that Belgian soldiers based in Belgium's neighboring Ruanda-Urundi trust territory threaten the Congo's eastern border. It said there was a complaint from Kivu that the Irish fraternized with the Belgians.

Rounding out the day's chaotic picture was a declaration by officials of Leopoldville province that Belgian soldiers have entrenched themselves in the Lower Congo area near the frontier of Portuguese Angola. They appealed for U.N. soldiers to oust them.

Without confirmation elsewhere, these officials declared "many Belgian planes" dropped the men and equipment Monday night. To some sources, their story sounded like an extension of the spy charges Lumumba whipped up against the Belgians last week.

The government requisitioned nearly all planes of the new Air Congo, taken over from Belgium's Sabena line, to fly its soldiers to Kasai's capital, Luluabourg.

Soviet Union Joins
In Tribute To Lodge

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Members of the Security Council—including the Soviet Union—paid tribute Wednesday to U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. He is leaving the U.N. next week to devote full time to his campaign as Republican candidate for the vice presidency.

In a round of brief speeches, the diplomats praised Lodge's work as head of the U.S. delegation during the past 7½ years.

The Soviet Union's new deputy representative, P. D. Morozov, said he wished to join his colleagues in their expressions of regret at Lodge's departure. He noted there were differences between the Soviet Union and the United States, but he said he would prefer on this occasion to think of the things that unite them.

Ike Insists Kennedy
Must Blame Demos
For Senate Setback

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday Sen. John F. Kennedy has only the Democrats to blame for failure to get through Congress the medical program for the aged that Kennedy wanted.

At his news conference, Eisenhower was told Kennedy had said the threat of an Eisenhower veto, plus Republican objections, had killed the proposal.

The President noted the Democrats have a 2-1 edge in Congress. "So I don't know why the complaints," Eisenhower said. "They have got the majority—such great majorities. They can do anything they want to, if they get together."

Nineteen Southern Democrats joined with the Republicans Tuesday night in defeating 51-44 an amendment backed by Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, and his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Polaris Ignited
Under Surface
For First Time

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Polaris missile was ignited under water for the first time Wednesday after being launched from a tube on the ocean floor.

The Navy said the test off San Clemente Island was "highly successful." It indicated the fiery ignition would not have damaged the mother ship had it been launched from a submarine.

A Polaris was launched from the kitchen for the first time last July 20. This missile ignited after it cleared the surface.

The air-powered underwater launching tube used Wednesday is identical to the 18 in the USS George Washington in recent 1,000-mile firings at Cape Canaveral, Fla. This tube has launched three Polaris test missiles, the first April 14, for above-water firings.

The Polaris tested Wednesday carried only enough solid propellant for a six-second flight after ignition.

Actor Claude Rains
Takes 6th Wife At 70

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (UPI)—Actor Claude Rains, 70, who was divorced from his fifth wife July 29, Wednesday announced his recent marriage to Mrs. M. Rosemary Clark, 42, of West Chester. Rains was recently divorced in Chester County Court by Agn Jambor, a concert pianist and teacher of music at Bryn Mawr College. They had been married nine months.

The new Mrs. Rains has been helping Rains write his biography.

Kennedy Slaps
At 'Experience'
Buildup Of Rival

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, Wednesday night accused his Republican rival, Richard M. Nixon of presiding over "the decline of our national security."

The Massachusetts senator thus carried his campaign for the White House into the South for the first time.

But in a partial text of his prepared address released before hand there was not a word about the burning civil rights issue which troubles Dixie. Nor did Kennedy mention his Roman Catholic religion, which also is a matter of concern in the strongly Protestant South.

Rather, he bore down on the way Republicans are trying to build Nixon up as a man of experience in government and the handling of foreign policy.

"Mr. Nixon is experienced—experienced in policies of defeat, retreat and weakness," Kennedy said of the vice president.

The Democratic candidate said he agrees with the GOP that experience in foreign policy is a major campaign issue, but it is not an issue merely of the experience of candidates.

"It is the experience," he said, "which the whole nation has gone through in the last eight years—and what an experience it has been!"

Kennedy repeated what he has said before, that America never has experienced such a critical decline in prestige, "driving our friends to neutralism, and neutrals to outright hostility."

Quoting Nixon to the effect that the Communists are running us down abroad, it's time to speak up for America, Kennedy said he would add to that it is also time to build America up.

Pope Receives Olympians
In Vast Outdoor Audience

ROME (AP)—Nearly 4,000 of the world's best athletes—atheist and Christian, Moslem and Jew—thronged St. Peter's Square Wednesday night for an outdoor audience before Pope John XXIII.

Wearing their Olympic uniforms, the men and women of 70 nations cheered the pontiff.

"We cannot wish victory to every team or to best man win," the Pope said. "But that is no obstacle to our expressing the very strong desire that the contests of these days will benefit you all, and that from them, all without exception will be able to gain some advantage."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate moved a step nearer adjournment Wednesday by passing a $3,989,054,000 foreign aid bill that would give President Eisenhower almost all the money he has been insisting on to help friendly nations.

By its 67-26 vote on passage, the Democratic-controlled Senate went along with its Appropriations Committee in restoring every cut made by the House except 200 million dollars for military aid.

The Senate also added an extra 100 million dollars Eisenhower asked for the presidential contingency fund to deal with unforeseeable crises of the Congo type.

In the House, the Rules Committee put off a decision on another stumbling block to adjournment. It agreed to vote Thursday on whether to let sharply differing Senate and House minimum wage bills go to conference.

If the Democratic-controlled committee decides to keep the wage bills bottled up it would mean another setback in Congress for Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for president.

Rules Group Holds Key

He pushed to Senate passage last week a bill to increase the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour. A bill previously passed in the House would boost the rate only to $1.15 and extend coverage of the wage-hour law to far fewer workers than the Senate bill.

The Rules Committee already has refused to clear school-aid bills although some Democrats have listed it among the top measures for this session.

The Rules Committee holds a key to when Congress will adjourn. There has been talk in the Senate of quitting by the end of this week but House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said Wednesday he doesn't see how Congress could possibly get through by then.

The compromise medical aid bill passed by the Senate Tuesday night moved Congress another step toward enactment. The House by unanimous consent agreed to a Senate request that the legislation be referred to a Senate-House conference to work out differences between it and a House-passed measure.

Three Amendments Adopted
The $3,989,054,000 foreign aid bill, which now goes to a Senate-House conference, compares with the $4,175,000,000 Eisenhower asked originally. But Congress, in separate legislation, authorizing the program limited spending for the next year to $4,066,300,000. Last year's appropriation was $3,600,000,000.

Before final passage, the Senate adopted three amendments by voice vote:

1. By Sen. Styles H. Bridges (R-NH) to shut off foreign aid funds to any country which provides either arms or economic help to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba.

2. By Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) to deny aid to any country which supplies arms to any Latin American country "being subjected to economic or diplomatic sanctions by the Organization of American States." The target of the amendment was the Dominican Republic.

3. By Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) to limit U.S. aid to no more than 90 per cent of the total cost of the entire program in any country.

20 Slightly Injured
When Train Derails

CHICAGO (AP)—Two locomotives and 11 passenger cars of a speeding New York Central train left the rails at Indiana Harbor, Ind., southeast of Chicago Wednesday.

A spokesman at St. Catharine's Harbor reported about 20 passengers were brought there for treatment. He said none appeared to be in serious condition.

The train was enroute from Cleveland to Chicago.

Conductor Lee Hart of Toledo said the train was moving over a railroad bridge spanning a canal when a journal broke and caused the wheels to fall off a car midway in the train.

Doctors, Politics, Finances Helped Beat Kennedy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Doctors, medical care benefits into the politics and money helped defeat Sen. John F. Kennedy in his spotlighted Senate floor fight on the issue of medical care for the aged.

The Democratic presidential nominee called it the most important issue of this abbreviated session. Yet 19 Democrats deserted him in the showdown and he picked up only one Republican vote.

Talks with senators on both sides of the argument turned up as major reasons for the defeat:

1. The feeling of Republican liberals that they would be pawns in a Democratic political stroke if they backed Kennedy's plan.
2. The view of some Southern Democrats that they would jeopardize highly attractive financial benefits already in the pending bill by voting with the Massachusetts senator. They believed inclusion of his plan would assure a veto by President Eisenhower.
3. Highly effective opposition by doctors marshalled by the American Medical Assn.

On the first point, Kennedy said quite frankly votes of five or six Republicans were essential for adoption of his proposal to write

Several of the 19 Democrats who voted against him said they were doing so because the bill before the Senate contained increased federal funds for their states, which they long had sought.

They said the Eisenhower administration consistently had opposed such increases. Now that it had agreed to accept them in an effort to stave off the Social Security medical care plan, these senators said they were going to do nothing to throw away this opportunity.

As to the third point, one senator intimately connected with the fight said many doctors came to Washington to oppose the Kennedy plan and played a potent role in the outcome.

"They talked to a lot of senators," said this source, who asked that his name not be used. "I have 3,000 doctors in my state and I don't know any 3,000 people I'd rather have for me."

Dillon Predicts Trujillo's Downfall

WASHINGTON (AP)—Downfall of the 30-year rule of Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo was predicted Wednesday by Douglas Dillon, acting secretary of state. The United States joined other hemisphere nations in plans aimed at isolating the strong man and driving him from power.

Dillon called Trujillo a tyrant, torturer and murderer. He reminded the House Agriculture Committee that hemisphere nations denounced Trujillo only last week, called for a break in diplomatic relations with his regime, and branded him as one of the plotters of an assassination attempt against Venezuela's popularly elected President Romulo Betancourt.

Dillon lashed out also at Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro, calling him "a Communist-type dictator," as President Eisenhower, in his news conference, said the very welfare of the Cuban people themselves requires a solution of the problem in Cuba.

Almost at the same time Dillon was urging the House committee to apply economic sanctions on Ellender called Trujillo an able administrator, said he had guided his country to a position as a strong and stable democracy. Eastland called Trujillo "a good friend of the United States."

Damaged State Yacht Put In Drydock For Repairs

CHESAPEAKE CITY, Md. (AP)—Marooned Maryland legislators made their way home by car Wednesday as their cruise ship, the state yacht Sea Level, was put in dry dock for repairs.

The legislative inspection trip of upper Chesapeake Bay facilities came to an abrupt end Tuesday when a propeller on the yacht was damaged in an encounter with a mooring cable.

The vessel limped to a shipyard here on its other propeller and was hauled out of the water for a closer look at the damage.

The accident occurred on the first cruise of Maryland lawmakers aboard the Sea Level since it was acquired to replace the old Potomac.

No legislators were aboard when the accident occurred as the yacht backed out of the Wellwood Yacht Club basin at Charlestown in Cecil County.

Capt. John P. Conway said one of the ship's propellers picked up a submerged mooring cable and the heavy concrete anchor which held it to the basin bottom.

The lawmakers were inspecting Elk Neck State Park when word of the accident reached them by police radio.

37 Paratroops Hurt

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (UPI)—Freak winds caught elements of 3,700 paratroopers taking part in a major mock war exercise Wednesday and carried them into pine woods, injuring 37 of them.

About 18 of the men remained hospitalized with injuries ranging from broken bones to internal injuries.

Seven Crash Victims Buried As City Mourns

WINOOSKI, Vt. (AP)—Seven recent high school graduates—chums since early childhood—were buried Wednesday as this city of 7,000 mourned. All died in a Sunday automobile crash.

Funeral Masses were sung in two Catholic churches to accommodate the crowds. Three were buried from one church; four from the other.

Without any suggestion from municipal authorities, most normal activity was suspended until noon. Flags were at half-staff. Stores kept their doors locked.

"It is as though a complete crepe has dropped over the city," Mayor Bernard L. Sumner said.

More than 1,200 persons crowded St. Francis Xavier Church for the first Mass. Five hundred more stood outside in a warm sun in hushed silence. Three caskets were placed before the altar—those of Earle Decarreau, 19; Ronald Rogers, 20; and Maurice Soutiere, 19.

Two hours later in St. Stephen's Church, four caskets were placed parallel to the altar. Parents of the victims occupied the front pews nearest to the casket of their sons. These were: Edward J. Foley, 19; James D. Daigle, 18; Norman C. Paquette, 19; and Louis Landino, 18.

Army Recruit Swaps Places With Friend

NEW YORK (AP)—Edward J. McClure, 19, was arrested Wednesday by the FBI for swapping places with a buddy as an Army recruit.

The youth who yearned to be a soldier successfully carried off the impersonation for three weeks. Asst. U.S. Atty. Averell Williams said McClure previously tried to enlist at his home town, Bladensburg, Md., but was turned down because of a foot injury.

Then one of McClure's friends, George R. Staley, 21, returned home on furlough and confided he would shortly be assigned to duty in Germany.

"I wish I was going," Williams quoted McClure. His friend, according to the attorney, replied "nothing easier."

With Staley's identification card and uniform, McClure reported to Fort Dix, N.J., and was assigned to a unit being sent overseas.

The ruse was exposed, Williams said, when neighbors in Bladensburg became suspicious about Staley's continued presence and queried authorities.

McClure had almost reached Germany on the transport Geiger when the impersonation was disclosed. He was returned here on the ship and arrested as he stepped ashore.

Staley has been held, according to Williams, by the Army for being absent without official leave.

If convicted, McClure could be imprisoned for six months and fined up to $2,000.

State Seafood Production Off

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's seafood production took a sharp dip the first six months of this year, but the commercial value of catches remained ahead of 1959 because of an improved oyster harvest.

Figures released Wednesday by the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries show total landings of 24,514,933 pounds of fish and shellfish in the state through June.

The volume is off nearly four million pounds from the same period last year, with rockfish and hard crabs accounting for much of the decline.

The commercial value of 1960 catches at dockside totaled $5,632,167 compared with $5,217,309 for the same period last year. Oysters landed from January through April made up the principal difference.

After one of the worst seasons in recent history last year, oyster production the first four months this year totaled 5,802,124 pounds with a value of $3,631,098 to watermen. This compared with 4,894,177 pounds valued at $2,656,683 for the same period of 1959.

Hard crab production dropped sharply in May and June after poor growing conditions this spring. The bureau reported landings of 3,411,443 pounds valued at $303,171 for the six-month period, compared with 4,951,323 pounds valued at $443,586 last year.

Most Traffic Victims Killed Near Homes

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council said Wednesday most of the 439 Americans who died in traffic accidents over the July 4th holiday were killed on roads in their own neighborhoods.

The council said its survey showed that 58 per cent of drivers involved in the fatal holiday accidents had driven over the death roads frequently.

In addition, the council said, 29 per cent of the drivers had driven over the highway occasionally, while only 13 per cent had driven it rarely.

"This suggests, of course," the council said, "that familiarity does breed contempt—for signs, signals, and for life itself."

Almost three out of five fatal holiday crashes occurred on roads with which the driver was familiar, the survey showed. Half the fatal accidents occurred within 10 miles of the driver's home.

Talks Called In Effort To Avert PRR Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Mediation Board Wednesday called for continuous bargaining sessions in Philadelphia beginning Friday in an all-out effort to avert a Pennsylvania Railroad system strike set for Sept. 1.

Eugene Thompson, board secretary, sent out the call for the bargaining sessions.

Two union groups representing shop crafts have threatened the Sept. 1 strike. They are the Transport Workers Union and the AFL-CIO Railroad Employees Department.

Easter Greeting 48 Years Late

QUICK, W. Va. (AP)—An Easter card has arrived at the Quick post office, 48 years late.

The card, dated 1912, was addressed to Miss Delia Quick from Tom Sage, who once stayed with Miss Quick's father in this Kanawha County community. It was mailed from Luzerne, Pa.

Miss Quick was struck and killed by a car two years ago.

Public Hearing Opens Sept. 14

Legislative Group Lays Groundwork For Maryland Prison System Probe

BALTIMORE (AP)—A legislative committee will launch its investigation of Maryland's prison system Sept. 14 with testimony from legislators and a private citizen at a public hearing.

The seven-member group headed by State Sen. Edward O. Weant, Jr. of Westminster (D-Carroll) laid ground rules for the inquiry at a 30-minute organizing session Wednesday in the State Office Building.

There were several demands for an investigation after about 14,000 prisoners staged a no-work protest strike early this month at the State Penitentiary in Baltimore, the House of Correction at Jessup and the Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown.

The State Board of Correction had ruled that prisoners doing outside work would have time stricken from their sentences, up to five days a month, and the strikers—inside workers—protested because they did not get the same privilege.

The board ruling which caused the trouble was rescinded Aug. 8 at a tense, five-hour meeting of board members, wardens of the institutions, law enforcement chiefs, Superintendent of Prisons James W. Curran and a representative of Gov. Tawes. The reversal brought a brief demonstration at all three prisons, but no real violence.

It was indicated Wednesday the investigation will cover the entire prison system, including "treatment of prisoners, cooperation among personnel and efficiency of lack of efficiency of the penal system," as Sen. John L. Sanford Jr. of Berlin (D-Worcester) put it.

Appearing at the first session will be Alvin J. T. Zumbun of Baltimore, executive director of a private organization known as the Maryland Crime Investigating Committee, and Washington County's seven-man delegation to the Legislature, including Democratic Sen. George E. Snyder of Hagerstown.

Sen. Snyder has been vocal in his criticism of Curran for a year or more. The entire county delegation made one of the requests for the investigation, terming the Board of Correction's reversal of its ruling "only another in a series of incredible prison administration blunders."

Sen. Aaron Baer (D-Balto 5th) suggested Zumbun's appearance because of a letter he said Zumbun had written to Senate President George W. Della (D-Balto 6th).

Carl Everstine, head of the Department of Legislative Reference, had said in his Aug. 15 letter to committee members—announcing their appointment—than the Zumbun's letter joined "Sen. Snyder's call for investigation of the prison administration in Maryland."

At later sessions, the committee will hear from wardens of the prisons, members of the Board of Correction and inmates of the institutions.

The prisoners will appear at closed-door sessions and their testimony may be taken verbatim by tape recorder. At least two committee members indicated this would be done for fear of reprisals.

"Some of these people won't want to talk," said Weant.

Del. Charles Coss of Hagerstown (D-Washington) added: "There's a morale factor involved in the institution in our county (reformatory for Males). I don't know how they'd feel coming before us."

"Personally," put in Sen. Baer, "I'm disinclined to executive sessions unless they're absolutely necessary. Most of the testimony concerns the public and should be open to the public as much as possible."

The committee decided to visit the three prisons after taking its testimony in Baltimore. In reference to this, Sen. H. Winship Wheatley Jr. of Hyattsville (D-Prince Georges) said:

"They are going to tell you what they want to tell you. You're going to get the facts when you get there."

Wheatley also suggested the committee "pull no punches" and Weant agreed.

"As long as we're going to do it," he said, "we ought to do it right. We'll get the facts as they exist and start from there."

The legislators indicated they would make any recommendations for changes in the law afterward, in time for consideration by the 1961 Legislature.

Trial Of Five For Holdup Of Club Patrons Shifted

FREDERICK (AP)—The trial of five men charged with the $10,300 robbery of patrons of a private club near Frederick has been shifted to the Howard County Circuit Court in Ellicott City.

Frederick County Circuit Court Judge Patrick Snuffer signed the change of venue order Wednesday at the request of the State's Atty. Robert S. Rothenhoefer.

Rothenhoefer contended a fair and impartial jury could not be obtained in Frederick County.

The five defendants have pleaded innocent to the robbery last April.

They were arrested at a roadblock near Rockville, Montgomery County, about an hour after the holdup.

The accused are Benjamin Greif, 51, New York; Johnny Douglas Boyd, 43, and William Williams, 35, both of Newark, N.J.; James Charles Toland, 55, Washington; and Charles Robert Graves, 35, of East Iron, N.J.

Greif is white, the others are Negroes.

Arab Ministers Meet

BEIRUT (UPI)—The foreign ministers of the Arab League met near here Wednesday to consider a request from Algeria's refugee "government" for aid. The request was presented by Krim Belkacem, "foreign minister" of the Algerian regime which makes its headquarters in Tunis.

Lumberman Preaches 'Vocational Evangelism'

By CLAIRE FOX
NEW YORK (UPI) — A friendly, blue-eyed Connecticut lumberman is stumping the country in a campaign to mobilize Christianity on an around-the-clock, seven-day-a-week basis in an offensive against Communism.

C. Stanton Gallup is his name. Just about everyone calls him Stan. A one-time $18-a-week truck driver who never finished high school, Stan now owns his own lumber company, a timber forest and a water works. He pilots his own airplane and is a Boy Scout executive and civic worker.

But he regards his biggest job as that of "vocational evangelist," a businessman who carries his religion into his professional life.

At 49, Gallup has just been given the chance of his lifetime to foster his favorite theme of applied Christianity. He is the new president of the American Baptist Convention, one of the major Protestant denominations.

"I hope to try to get into Christianity some of the dedication the Communists get into their disciples," Gallup said in an interview. "I hope to get the man-power of our denomination behind the church, to help the church make an impact on the community."

"The church has to take a stand. It can't take a stand unless we are 100 per cent Christian in all we do — not just what we say, but the lives we lead. We need deeper dedication as Christians. A lot of us are fair-weather Christians."

Long before Stan began preaching vocational evangelism, he practiced it. Soon after he was married, at the age of 20, he and his wife decided to tithe — to give 10 per cent of their income to the church. Their income was $18 a week, before titling.

They have tithed — and more — ever since, with both time and money. Today Gallup devotes as much time to church work as he does to running the Gallup Lumber Company in Plainfield, Conn., and the waterworks he bought as a civic gesture when shutdown was threatened.

When Gallup decided to divide his time between business and the church, it was only after long hours of soul searching in which he considered becoming a minister. But he decided it was more important for him to prove that Christian principles would work in business than in preaching from a pulpit.

Little Vessel Bests River At Every Turn

By ROBERTA ULRICH

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI)—The Idaho Queen is a dumpy little boat with rust showing through her paint. But she fights the turbulent Snake River on its own terms and hasn't lost a battle yet.

Neither has her captain — appropriately named R. B. (Dick) Rivers—who has worked on the treacherous stream 23 of his 40 years.

Rivers has the only regular boat service from Lewiston upstream, to the Devil's Doorway, the entrance to famed Hells Canyon.

The glamour end of Rivers' business is tourists — giving visitors a look at the wild, rugged country where the Snake River flows between Idaho and Oregon in a canyon several thousand feet deep. But the bread and butter is in the mail run and cargo hauling.

Every Wednesday, come 110-degree-heat or the howling winds of winter—except for times when the river is frozen over—Rivers and his boat make the 90-mile trip upstream. The mail route includes 15 stops for farm families, prospectors and a couple of old fellows who just plain don't cotton to civilization.

For many of these, Rivers is their only contact with the world outside for months at a time. To them all, he brings their mail, including the precious mail order catalogue, and the food, clothing and other supplies ordered from town.

On the return trip, he may have a load of livestock from one of the ranches or his decks may be piled high with wool. It was a load of wool that brought Rivers the closest he's come to a dunking in four years of operating his own boat.

The Snake was at its most treacherous and Rivers was bringing out a load of 2½ tons of wool alone.

"She was really piled high," Rivers recalled. "The current caught me and she started to dip. She leaned so far the wool scraped that rock there." He pointed a brawny arm toward a sheer wall that formed the river bank.

"I thought she was gone," he said. But Rivers righted the little craft and both he and the wool made it safely to Lewiston.

Navigating the Snake is a tricky job. There are no navigational aids and the river level fluctuates widely from season to season, giving a safe clearance at a point one week and forming a dangerous shoal the next.

Rivers guides his boat by sighting landmarks along the river bank—a rock formation here, a gnarled tree there. So wild is the Snake that at certain seasons his upstream run takes two days and the downstream trip a half-day. Normally, it's a long day up and a short day back.

Rivers usually spends the night at his camp near the southern end of his route. He has facilities there for housing the hunters, fishermen and tourists he takes into the area.

Johnson-Kennedy Women To Hit Trail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson and Kennedy women will hit the campaign trail alone while the Democratic candidates are pinned down on Capitol Hill.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, wife of the vice presidential candidate, told a news conference Tuesday she will lead the first female foray deep into the heart of Texas her home state.

Mrs. Eunice Shriver, sister of Presidential candidate Sen. John F. Kennedy, and his sister-in-law Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, will go along with Lady Bird Johnson.

"We want the people of Texas to meet the Kennedy women and to give Ethel and Eunice a chance to see Texas," Mrs. Johnson said. Sitting by her side, Mrs. Ethel Kennedy said it'll be her first trip to Texas and she's looking forward to it.

They plan to start out Monday on the three-day political hand-

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street welcomed Tuesday the prime rate cut by some major banks as a long-range help to business and an immediate stimulant to investors' confidence.

The stock market advanced but some brokers couldn't see the credit-easing move producing anything more than a flurry at this time.

The prime rate—the interest charged by banks to the biggest and best rated borrowers—was reduced from 5 per cent to 4½.

Pointing out that business improvement usually lags behind credit easing by four to eight months, L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. said:

"The market already is better than business and has been getting better for the last three weeks."

Hooper felt that of particular significance was the fact that for 14 consecutive sessions more stocks have advanced than declined on the New York Stock Exchange.

Lester Wyetznor of Bache & Co. also called attention to the long string of preponderances of advances and said:

"This buying could continue for a little longer. But somewhere along the way the market has to get some rest to adjust its enthusiasm."

Peter Wycoff of Hayden, Stone & Co. felt that the advance of steel and oil issues on the heels of the prime rate cut would inspire confidence and prompt people to get into the market.

Ability of the market to stage a slow but steady recovery this month indicates that adverse earnings and international factors have been pretty well discounted, in the opinion of the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

"The proof of whether the current advance is the beginning of a sustained recovery or another short-term rally will depend on third and fourth quarter earnings," it said. "As yet we see no confirmation of a definite trend."

Fire Kills Four

DETROIT (UPI) — A young mother and her three daughters suffocated Wednesday in a fire at their home in suburban Southgate. Authorities said the mother, Mrs. Billie Rae McGlothlin, 26, apparently gave up her life in a vain attempt to save her daughters, Theresa, 6, Kathy, 4, and Kim, 2.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A woman I've known for years told me she couldn't attend my dinner party next week because she's going to the hospital. When I asked what for she replied, "A little surgery." I asked what kind of surgery and she answered curtly "minor," and changed the subject.

This brush-off over my deep concern for her welfare made me so mad I called her doctor who happens to be a social friend also. I asked him what was wrong with Mrs. So and So.

The doctor insulted me by saying it was none of my business and that it was pretty nosy of me to call him. This cut me deeply as we are all good friends. I'd like you to tell me, Ann Landers, why in the world should a person be ashamed of having an operation?—FRIENDSHIP UN-RETURNED

DEAR UNRETURNED: Some people take pleasure in regaling one and all with details of their poor health. They are happy to give an organ recital to anyone who will listen.

People of taste and judgment, however, consider such conversation brutally boring. They spare their friends.

You were rude to press for details of the type of operation when your friend volunteered none. And phoning the doctor to pump him for information was indefensible gall. You earned whatever sharp criticism he ladled out.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl 15 who wants to make a social success of myself. I will be going to a new school in the fall and want things to be just right. The problem is my dad. He's a nice enough person, but his grammar is just awful. He has made a big financial success without much education, but he could talk a lot better if he made the effort. He says "dontha" instead of "don't you" and "ex-cape" instead of "escape."

Please don't say he can't help it because with radio and TV a person could learn from just listening. Shall I apologize for him in advance or ask him to please watch his speech when my friends are over?

—FRESH START

DEAR FRESH: I've heard a great many gaucheries on radio and TV which were more offensive than "ex-cape." So, let's not go overboard for two media which have contributed to the debasement of the English language.

Don't apologize for your father. The kids couldn't care less how your father sounds. It's how YOU sound that will count, and frankly, you sound pretty snobbish to me.

DEAR ANN: My wife has a woman friend who parks herself at our house every day. I realize it's my wife's house, too, but when a husband comes home from work I don't think he should have to put up with an outsider every day for four years straight.

I used to like the woman but now I hate the sight of her. Sometimes she stays for dinner and this ruins the whole evening for me.

I don't want my wife to know I feel so strongly about this. She'd probably think I was cracked. What shall I do?

—DOUBLE HELLO

DEAR HELLO HELLO: A straightforward statement to your wife should do it.

In case you can't think of the words, here's a sample: "I'd like to come directly home after work, dear, but if you have company I'd be happy to kill an hour or two elsewhere until she leaves. I'll phone just before I head for home and you can give me the word."

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' book, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

At club meetings, enjoy . . . but don't annoy.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Manners At Meetings

"The meeting will now come to order!" Or will it? That, madam club-member, depends on you.

As all the countless clubs in the country scramble to convene once again, all the presidents and chairmen lift their gavel — and their hopes — for the return of manners at meetings.

Robert's Rules of parliamentary order mean little to many women. If these members contribute at all to club business procedure, they are inclined to insert themselves on impulse, then to feel insulted if they are corrected.

Most of the time, however, such women contribute nothing whatsoever to a club's purpose and progress. It's hard to decide why they joined in the first place. They come to the meetings to see and to be seen. They come to visit among themselves, to be entertained. They come to eat.

All this would be perfectly acceptable . . . if they would just be reasonably quiet and respectfully attentive at the proper times.

Late arrivals. Giggles and shufflers. Grumblers, numblers, wisecrackers. Dues-paying they may be . . . but dismaying, and infinitely distracting to the speaker on the podium and to the embarrassed audience as well. And usually they are the most critical of club policies and programs, too.

Unfortunately, such childish carrying-on can be catching. When women are massed together, one misplaced giggle can multiply into an epidemic of hysteria.

There are plenty of genuine opportunities for club members to share fun and conversation. It is assumed that, between times, individual members will have enough self-control to cooperate with the serious side of the organization.

Serious clubwomen agree on one practical solution for the sobering and settling of giddy members. The expert officers all say, "Prod them onto committees!" Divide these members among several separate committees, to break up a tight group of lightweights.

It works beautifully. If the casual member can't be flattered on to a committee, she will most likely be frightened away altogether at the prospect of constructive occupation.

And those corraled often turn out to be the best committee members of all, real assets to the organization. It seems all they needed was a job, a common interest with the group, a chance to become better acquainted — and to GIVE.

Property Owners Must Cut Weeds

The property owner is responsible for keeping weeds cut, brush and hazards cleared, City Attorney William R. Carscaden said yesterday.

For some time, the city has been sending letters to property owners about this situation in cases where complaints about the condition are received.

The city has the right to have the weeds cut, brush or hazards cleared, then charge the property owner for the service through the placing of a lien against his property, it was pointed out.

A metal building, 100 by 140 feet in dimension, will be used as a car repair shop. The structure will have four cranes, six track pits, three rip tracks.

There will be three tracks in the building, one for westbound cars, one for eastbound cars, and a third for east or west bound traffic. The shop building will be located at the west end of the huge yards at the westbound classification yards and be on the south side of the yard tracks.

On the north side of the shop building will be depressed material track so that the cars containing various items used in repair work can be unloaded easily. A concrete platform will abut the depressed track.

Railroad workers will erect a metal building for housing air compressors, an oxy-acetylene building will be erected which will also have an oil separator, a solvent tank, and an oil tank.

There will be offices set up in the building and the entire area around the new structures will be concreted. Railroad officials said the main purpose of the new shops will be to enable repairs to be made on all types of railroad cars.

No estimate of the cost of the project was given but the description of the project provides the answer that it will be a quite a large outlay.

News that the B&O is going ahead with the project in view of the merger talks which have been going on for some months, provides an optimistic note among railroad workers and others in this area.

When I saw the above hand played, South in a softly modulated tone, opened with two hearts and received a cheerful raise from partner. The vision of a grand slam passed before him in all its splendor and impulsively he uttered the magic words "four no trump." North dutifully made the Blackwood response of five diamonds indicating one ace and South was right back where he started. Unwilling to take the 50-50 chance that it was the ace of spades, he was content to bid only six hearts and was dismayed to find that he could spread 13 tricks.

It is, perhaps, too obvious for me to point out that the South hand is not the type on which the Blackwood convention should be employed. If the deuce of diamonds were converted into a club, then the convention would be beautifully applicable, since the only concern of the holder would be the number of aces held by partner.

In the direct method shown in the diagram above, the bidding is the essence of simplicity. After hearts have been supported, the opener goes out on a fishing expedition by bidding four diamonds, at which point it is the duty of responder to show an ace if he has one. The only risk in-

Where Limb Fell

Workmen clear up the mess that resulted when a heavy limb of a large shade tree in the 200 block of Washington Street fell shortly before 2 a. m. yesterday, bringing down a street light power line and damaging a parked car. All street lights in the area were out until the damage could be repaired, and Washington Street was blocked between Smallwood and Lee streets. Limb broke off from a point at upper right of photo.

Daniel Hartley Kerns, Bloomery, W. Va., and Grace Ann Hook, Paw Paw, W. Va.

$446 Given For Exhibits Of Clothing

Premium checks totaling $446.25 were awarded in the household department, clothing exhibits at the Cumberland Fair which closed Saturday.

Mrs. Martin M. Gordon, chief clerk at the fair, said the premiums were distributed to 120 persons for their work in rugs, knitting, crocheting and needlework.

Mrs. Upton McFarland, Route 1, Frostburg, won $7.50 in the rug division for her hooked and braided exhibits. The rugs were divided into four classifications — crocheted, hooked, woven and braided.

Mrs. Fay Stillwagon, 118 Greene Street, Cumberland, was the big winner in the knitting division which included sweaters, dresses, baby clothing, gloves and stoles. She won $16.

Blue ribbon winners in crocheting were Betty Rider, 408 Beall Street, Cumberland, who received $3 for her white tablecloth; Thelma Brode, Lonaconing, who received $3 for her colored tablecloth; and Catherine Barnard, 408 Beall Street, city, who won $3 for her afghan.

In the needlework division which included pillowcases, dresses, scarfs, luncheon sets and quilts, Mrs. W. A. Judy won three blue ribbons and $3.75 for her entries.

West Side Firemen Check Auto Blaze

West Side firemen were called yesterday afternoon when a car belonging to Glenn K. Davis, 515 Dreyer Avenue, caught fire at the intersection of Chase and Paca streets.

The call was received at 2:20 p.m., according to firemen who said there apparently was a backfire in the carburetor of the car.

Fire Company Event To Open At Cresaptown

The 27th annual jubilee celebration of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company will open this evening at the fire hall in that community.

Arthur Winter, past fire chief and past president, who is in charge of the three-day celebration, said proceeds of the jubilee will go toward the ambulance detail and maintenance of the fire-fighting equipment.

There will be booths, games, novelties and refreshment stands in charge of the volunteers and the auxiliary unit.

A highlight of the celebration will be a parade and dance tomorrow night. The parade is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m.

The route of the parade, which will form on Meadow View Drive, will be to U. S. Route 220 to the Post Office, down Winchester Road to Warrior Drive.

The paraders will disband at the fire hall, where a dance will begin at 9 p. m. with music by a string orchestra. Those persons in uniform will be admitted to the dance free of charge. Mr. Winter added.

He said the parade will be led by members of the host company, followed by the VFW drill team of Mt. Savage.

In automobiles will be Miss Cresaptown, Miss Fire Fighter and her attendants, who will be followed by the Cresaptown Majorettes.

Next in order will be the LaVale Fire Company, Midland, Mt. Savage, Pinto-Ettes, Westernport, Clarysville, Corriganville, VFW Sed Sacks of Lonaconing, McCoolle firemen Cresaptown Little Leaguers, Ellerslie, Moorefield, Baltimore Pike Firettes, Baltimore Pike firemen, Barton, Bowman's Addition and Bowling Green companies.

Electricity is found on more than three-fourths of all U. S. farms.

U. S. farmers operate from 60 to 65 per cent of all farm tractors in the world.

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "One Way Passage" is the next project for Ray Stark after he finishes cutting "The World of Suzie Wong" — or, the "woes" of Suzie Wong.

Before leaving for London Ray told me that he has signed a beautiful blonde actress, Elga Anderson, for the same role in "One Way Passage" which Kay Francis played for Warner Bros. so many years ago. Merle Oberon did the remake. It's a beautiful story.

"Elga looks a lot like Carole Lombard," Ray said. "She was a hit in 'Orpheus Nigres.' She was discovered by the late novelist Marcel Camus and scored a tremendous hit in his play 'Elevator to Death' in Germany. I am bringing her to Hollywood later. I want to stay home and make pictures right here and I'll let someone else produce. I've had it!" said Ray.

Socialite actor George Hamilton won't be doing his marketing in his Rolls Royce and driving his best girl Susan Kohner around in his new Alfa Romeo for a spell. He's headed for Europe for the Venice Film Festival — then on to Munich to see Curt Jurgens about the romantic lead in "With Head Held High."

This is Curt's independent picture featuring the famed Viennese riding academy where the beautiful Lippizaner horses are trained. Jurgens himself plays the riding master and George is wanted for the student rider whose extracurricular loves get him expelled. George is scheduled for "Midnight in Paris" opposite Yvette Mimieux before the start of Curt's high stepping movie.

The most unwanted role of film history — that of the arch-villain Adolph Eichmann, Nazi executioner of six million Jews, may soon be announced as falling to Hannes Messemer. Who is Messemer? In West Berlin he is the greatest acting rage since Emil Jannings was the No. 1 German star. Within a few days producers Sam Bishoff and David Diamond are expected to sign Messemer as Eichmann in "The Supreme Executioner" for Allied Artists.

The unbelievable story of Eichmann recently climaxed in his capture and kidnapping from Argentina by dedicated agents of Israel who have been on his trail for 15 years. He is now being held in Tel Aviv awaiting trial.

There had been rumors that Montgomery Clift had found sympathy and understanding from Myrna Loy. When questioned he said: "Myrna's been a great friend to me. I am a good friend of her ex-husband Howard Sargent and she has been very kind." Monty went on to say that Libby Holman Reynolds and her young son Tommy are visiting him in Reno. "In case anyone should tell you," he said, "there's no romance there, either. She too has been very kind."

Monty, according to director John Huston, is getting along just fine in "The Misfits."

It was too bad that the electric storm in Reno called off the premiere of "Let's Make Love," since so many newspaper people and stars went there for the shooting.

The happy sound in Jean Simmons' voice was for two reasons. Her daughter Tracy arrived Friday from England — and she was having dinner with director Richard Brooks and a group of friends at the Au Petit Jean Restaurant.

"I am going out with Richard," she told me, "but I will also go out with other escorts: I have no plans for an immediate marriage, and mother, Mrs. Winifred Simmons, is arriving very soon to spend some time with me in my new home."

I must say Jean looks well, but she says she's tired having made so many movies one right after the other. "I'm reading scripts," she said, "but I don't expect to go to work right away."

There are very few motion pictures made by Ross Hunter in which Virginia Grey doesn't appear. She's his good luck charm and now Virginia gets a really good role as the mother of Sandra Dee in "Chalk Garden." She's also in Ross' upcoming "Back Street."

I do hope Virginia keeps those few pounds she's gained recently. She's so much prettier and younger looking. She and Lana Turner, who's also a good luck charmer for Ross, have become very good friends.

Six Persons Are Granted Citizenship In Court Here

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris granted U.S. citizenship to six persons in an impressive ceremony yesterday in Circuit Court.

F. Alfred Petersam, U.S. naturalization examiner, recommended the six be granted citizenship on the basis they had passed all the requirements of the law and were worthy of acceptance.

Judge Harris told the six new Americans that "this country is honest and sincere in its thoughts, its action and relationships with the other peoples of the world and their governments. If all nations could see their way clear to have the same aims and desires, we would actually see the Christian maxim, 'on earth peace, good will toward men' fulfilled; and the world would head into many years of peace, security and happiness."

Citing that the world's population is two and one half billion, Judge Harris told how Dr. Henry Smith Leiper has quickened the imagination by reducing the world to one little town of 1,000 inhabitants.

In the mythical town there would be 60 persons representing the population of America, 940 would represent the rest of the world. Thirty-six of the Americans would be Christian church members, 24 would not be members of any church, and there would be 300 Christians in the entire town.

At least 80 of the persons would be Communists and another 370 would be under their control. There would be 303 white people and 697 non-whites. The 60 Americans would have a life expectancy of 70 years, and all non-Americans would have a life expectancy of less than 40 years. The 60 Americans would have half of the town's financial income and the other half would be shared by the 940 others. All most half of the 940 non-Americans would not know how to read or write.

"Within the last few years our way of life and form of government have been subject to severe, and I think unwarranted criticism. This criticism comes from two sources. The fuzzy-minded self-styled liberals who are in many instances totalitarians and the Communists.

"The unfair criticism has raised the blood pressure of loyal Americans," Judge Harris stated.

"In answer to some of the criticism of our government, we might point out a few of our many assets.

"Our standard of living is the highest in the world.

"Nowhere else in the world do men enjoy the liberty we have in our country.

"Our span of life is rapidly increasing.

"Our mechanical geniuses have taken much of the physical burden from the backs of men.

"We have six per cent of the world's population and about 50 per cent of the youth in institutions of higher learning.

"We have more libraries and more serious printed words than the other 94 per cent of the people of the world.

"We have more hospitals and charitable institutions than the rest of the world combined.

"I might add that we have fought in two world wars, and we ask for no indemnity, no acquisition of territory, and no dominion over other nations.

"We have given billions of dollars to save millions of persons in foreign countries from famine. We have given billions of dollars to aid foreign governments to prevent their collapse.

"I might remind our critics that we in America have made more progress in the last 170 years in our form of government than any other people have made under any other form of government in the past 6,000 years."

Local Woman, Hurt In Auto Accident, Dies

A local woman was killed and six other persons hospitalized following a two-car accident Tuesday afternoon at Red House in nearby Garrett County.

Victim of the collision was Mrs. Mae Virginia Hausman, 66, of 24 North Waverly Terrace.

The accident occurred around 1 p. m. Tuesday, and Mrs. Hausman died in Garrett County Memorial Hospital at Oakland at 4 a. m. today as a result of injuries sustained in the crash. She reportedly sustained a fractured skull.

Admitted to the hospital and reported in "fair" condition are the following:

Hazel Marie Manges, 57, of 633 Leiper Street, who sustained a fractured left ankle, multiple cuts and bruises.

Virginia Bookheimer, 50, of Bedford Road, who suffered multiple bruises, abrasions and shock.

Effie Kline, 72, also of 24 North Waverly Terrace, shock, cuts and bruises.

James Marshall Honacker, 58, Alexandria, Va., multiple cuts and bruises, and his wife, Lillie M. Honacker, 61, multiple cuts, bruises and possible internal injuries.

Maryland State Police who investigated said the accident occurred at the intersection of U. S. Route 50 and Route 219 at Red House.

Police said Wilford D. Manges, 57, of 633 Leiper Street was driving south on Route 219 and apparently failed to stop at a stop light and collided with the Honacker car. The Virginia vehicle was westbound on Route 50.

Mrs. Hausman was a native of Keyser, and a daughter of the late Mason S. and Rachael V. (McNeman) Tucker.

Survivors include her husband, Walter Hausman, and a sister, Effie M. Kline, who was also involved in the accident.

Her body is at the Hafer Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hausman was a member of the Star of the Sisterhood, Dames of Malta No. 111, which will conduct a service today at 7:15 p. m. at the funeral home.

Keeping Our Feet On The Ground

While man-made satellites soar through space gathering all sorts of valuable scientific data, a couple of people in England have kept both feet on the ground and concerned themselves with the things that matter.

One wrote to The Times recently to report the greatly increased brilliance of glow-worms in Wiltshire, compared with the war years. Black-out regulations then, perhaps?

This year they were visible brightly at 50 yards at 11 p. m. "Even when handled, the light continued unabated, and showed brightly through the paper of a stout envelope when held in a room lit by a 200-watt bulb," he wrote. "When seen under conditions of partially night adapted vision, one such insect provided enough light to read the small print of a daily paper..."

Presuming that is so, then the glow-worm researcher could have read the letter next to his in The Times, written by a person with a problem. "Can anyone explain why it is that unshelled prawns are sold by the pint and not by weight?" this correspondent asked. "One always has a nagging suspicion that the measuring vessel has not been stuffed as tightly as possible with these delectable crustaceans."

Would the world be a safer and saner place if more people were concerned with things of importance, like delectable crustaceans and super-powered glow-worms?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Abundance v. Scarcity

Some of our younger thinkers are wondering whether abundance is all that it is cracked up to be. Their generation has not known real scarcity, that is, poverty—the lack of the essentials of life. Three generations back, the grandparents of those who are now debating whether abundance is not more evil than scarcity, whether abundance is temporary and security permanent, knew poverty. They knew when a dollar a day and a full dinner pail was a political slogan; they remember when Samuel Gompers fought for the eight-hour day as a natural right. They recall shoes sold in cities for $1.50 a pair and they said that the soles were made of paper. They remember when oranges were seen only during the Christmas season and they were small and spotted. They knew a world without telephones or automobiles. I recall the first automobile I ever saw. I never knew what a radio was until 1930 because I lived in a country which up to that time had no radio.

The term, scarcity, in modern sociological and economic parlance does not quite mean what it says. There is no scarcity. There is, in fact, too much of everything. The existing machines can stamp out more than the human race could consume. There is a limit to the number of razor blades that one person can use; there is a limit to the number of steaks that one person can eat.

The major problem that faces our age is not the product of the machine, whether it be the industrial or the agricultural machine—it is the distribution of the wealth of the world. The stockpiling of $7,000,000,000 of agricultural commodities in this country makes no sense. The total stockpile held by the United States government of all commodities amounts to over $15,000,000,000. Either we find a way to distribute what is produced or we should cease to produce an excess. It is not abundance to produce what is not used. It is sinful to produce potatoes and dye them so that they cannot be used for human consumption. It is ridiculous to store wheat in the holds of rusting ships while in other parts of the world there is starvation. And when there is no starvation, what is the excuse for surplus production?

This is as true of automobiles as of wheat, of children's toys as of butter. We waste land; we waste natural resources; we waste minerals and metals when we produce more than can be marketed. When economic nationalism becomes destructive by setting up barriers to the movement of the necessities of life, then there is no rational abundance. Joseph's everlasting granaries did not last longer than those of Henry Wallace. In due course, the land choked on its plenty and resorted to slavery to absorb its labor.

Another factor that enters this picture is good taste, which is only common sense. A person might eat 5,000 calories a day but not 30,000 with safety. A person might eat a one-pound steak at a meal but not 10 pounds. Most American major illnesses are alimentary: we eat and drink too much and without taste. The rise of such illnesses as diabetes and some of the heart ailments are due to the assumption that because there is abundance, one must gorge.

Similarly, the current concept that it is necessary to change a car, to get a new refrigerator, to own the best hi-fi set, etc., is a mark neither of taste nor culture. It is not sound economics because it reduces the thrift of the individual and encourages him to look forward to dependence. There are many side factors in this picture and one of the principal ones is the retirement of able-bodied, strong-minded, competent men at 62 or 65 when they are capable of doing their work excellently.

What the politicians call "our senior citizens" are often men of experience, competence and capacity who are thrown off the assembly line by the calendar. I think of Bernard Baruch, whose 90th birthday occurred last Friday, completing the second volume of his autobiography. I think of the conductor, Pierre Monteux, who at 85 gave performances at Tanglewood this summer which few younger men could equal. All about are older men who are being wasted by a civilization that makes abundance and waste synonymous.

Signs Of A Coming Chinese-Russian Break?

WASHINGTON

According to persistent reports from Moscow, the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party has been circulating a highly explosive special letter on Russian-Chinese relations to all party organizations, both at home and abroad.

The reports, though not absolutely confirmed, are regarded as reliable. One of them compares the Central Committee's new encyclical to the famous letter of the Central Committee, passing on the news of Nikita S. Khrushchev's secret speech denouncing Josef Stalin.

Most, though not all, of the reports agree that the new encyclical was sent as a result of the Bucharest meeting, which aired the bitter though somewhat mysterious Sino-Soviet ideological dispute about the possibilities of peaceful co-existence. If this is correct, the circular must have been approved by the meeting of the Soviet Central Committee just subsequent to the meeting in Bucharest.

On this assumption, the sending of the circular was not a recent event. Yet the mere news of its existence has caused a perceptible increase in expert speculation about an eventual open rupture between Peking and Moscow.

In the words of one expert, "the volcano has been rumbling horribly for some months." The news of the circular letter from the Soviet Central Committee is like the sudden sight of smoke belching from the crater. In the circumstances, the possibility of an actual eruption really has to be thought about.

The volcano's rumblings, it must be added, have been distinctly more ominous than has yet been realized by all but a few people here. Consider the all but incredible, hitherto unpublished exchange that took place on August 13 between the official "Izvestia" in Moscow and the equally official "People's Daily" in Peking.

"Not much wisdom is needed," "Izvestia" trumpeted, "to assemble and sometimes distort quotations and to repeat over and over again that imperialist wars are inevitable until socialism triumphs... Such people... Lenin called 'leftist' phrase-mongers. Lenin ridiculed their theories of 'prohibiting' the Soviet peaceful relations with capitalist countries and 'stepping up' revolutions."

"Therefore, for those who wish to (replace) the developing, living teachers of Marxism-Leninism with a dead dogma, it is a blasphemy to refer to Lenin."

By Joseph Alsop

Like the blast from "Izvestia," the counter-blast of the "People's Daily" is full of words and phrases in unexplained quotation marks. These words and phrases should probably be interpreted as actual quotations from the Soviet Central Committee circular. If so, the Soviets must have been very sharp indeed, as can be seen from the following "People's Daily" passage:

"As for the modern revisionists and their followers who have gone so far as to take their cue from the U. S. imperialists in vociferously affirming the slander that China is 'belligerent,' that it 'wants war,' that it 'does not want peaceful co-existence,' (but) attempts to 'push forward the world revolution by means of war'—and all this amounts to nothing else than throwing themselves into the position of apologists for imperialism."

"The Chinese people hold all this blasphemous talk in contempt!"

Each side, then, has openly called the other "blasphemous." It is now pretty well established, moreover, that the Soviets at least ordered a symbolic withdrawal of Russian technicians from China some time before this brisk exchange of charges of blasphemy.

The evidence on this point is now so strong that the burden of proof plainly lies on the minority of experts who still hold that no technicians were withdrawn. At least two Western embassies in Peking have sent unqualified reports of organized departures of large groups of Soviet technical personnel. One such report, dated entirely reliable by the sender, spoke of a whole trainload of 200 to 300 Russian technicians and their families. This was an extraordinary movement, quite different from the ordinary, piecemeal movement that would be produced by the completion of a project.

There have been other strange signs, too. One such, exclusively reported in the "New York Herald Tribune," was the suppression in the Soviet Union of the two Sino-Soviet magazines, "Friendship," and "China." Another sign, not previously disclosed, was the non-appearance of the Chinese delegation at the important Congress of Orientalists which began in Moscow about ten days ago.

Such are the collected signs. Each man may read them as he chooses.

Inside Washington

WATERS UNCHARTED—Politically, the federal government is sailing uncharted waters. The big question mark is Congress, or rather the public reaction to what transpires during the short session of Congress.

Thus far in the post-convention session the Republicans, under the active and zealous leadership of President Eisenhower, have taken the offensive in calling for a comprehensive legislative program.

The Democrats, under the surface leadership of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, of Texas, the Vice Presidential nominee, but really controlled by Presidential candidate Senator John F. Kennedy, have reacted sharply and decisively in limiting the legislative field to measures held over from the regular session.

The Democratic majorities in both houses of Congress leave no doubt that they'll have their way—that there will be no legislation passed, unless they approve. What the Republicans are trying to do is create a public image of their party as the political group which is trying to get things done and label the Democrats as the party of obstructionism.

The Democrats, on the other hand, are trying to concentrate on passage of a few measures which they feel will bring them into the political campaign in an advantageous situation with the voters. They will fight for measures in a form which will give them the image of the party of progress and label the Republicans as the party of conservatism and standstillism.

Never before have the two opposing political parties found themselves in this precise situation. Neither has any precedent for judging the reaction of the electorate. It'll be interesting to see how the whole thing turns out.

Juvenile Delinquency Is A Complex Problem

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dollen

There is no single cause for bad behavior in young people, and no simple single solution to the problem. The number of theories on the subject is staggering. The truth is, we don't know how to prevent or cure delinquency.

The majority of delinquents have a major emotional disturbance due to feelings of rejection, lack of parental affection, mental conflicts, frustration, or feelings of guilt or inferiority. Family disharmony often is the basis of these attitudes.

Some authorities blame poverty; others, slum conditions or a warped personality. The home, the parents, the school, and the church have been indicated as well as lack of recreational facilities, more leisure time, movies, comic books, television, radio, automobiles, alcohol, and filthy literature. When all the causes are added, we get a mixture of everything that influences the living habits and behavior of a growing boy or girl.

The same can be said of cures, which vary from the wooded technique to the building of boys clubs on every corner. Better and stricter laws have not solved the problem and nothing will be gained by fining or imprisoning the parents. Many delinquents rebel at restrictions and hate one or both parents.

Better recreational facilities and guidance in school and at home are helpful but have not solved the problem. The same can be said of educating the parents on their part in the situation. "Spare the rod and spoil the child" is an excellent philosophy for the upbringing of the majority of youngsters but its role in the development of delinquency is not known. Children should be taught the difference between right and wrong from the beginning but human behavior is complex. Furthermore, the attitudes of the delinquents are not influenced by normal codes of ethics.

The cure will not be found until the cause of delinquency is discovered. This could be medical or sociological. Meanwhile, it is a community problem that requires the cooperation of all.

BLOATING AND NERVES
F. K. writes: Is a nervous person more likely to be bothered by gas than one who always is calm?

REPLY
Yes, because almost everything bothers a nervous person. In addition, our troubles seem to settle in the intestinal tract causing spasms, gas, or indigestion.

REPOSITORY INJECTIONS
L. B. writes: I know about the one shot treatment of ragweed. Is this technique used for other types of allergies?

REPLY

Yes. But be patient. The technique is new and if the extract is not administered properly, uncomfortable results may occur.

SEDATIVES AND COFFEE

Mrs. R. P. writes: My son takes a sedative pill at night and then a cup of coffee. Doesn't the coffee nullify the effect of the pill?

REPLY

Somewhat, depending upon the type of sedative and the dosage.

INFECTION IN NEWBORNS

A. C. writes: Can a newborn baby come into the world with an infection?

REPLY

Yes. Syphilis, pneumonia, malaria, chicken pox, measles, tuberculosis, and other diseases have been noted in newborns.

MURMURS

A. B. writes: Does heart murmur mean heart trouble?

REPLY

Not necessarily. Murmurs associated with definite defects mean heart disease. The others are innocent and represent sounds caused by eddy currents or the beating of the heart against the lung.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dollen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Officials Believe Powers, McKone Were 'Brain-Rinsed' By Russians

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is out of Washington briefly, his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON—Like U-2 pilot Francis Powers, a crewman of the downed RB-47 reconnaissance plane, Lt. John McKone, has written to his wife that he is happy and healthy in his Soviet prison. No word has been heard yet from the other surviving crewman, Lt. Freeman Olmstead.

McKone's letter is almost identical in language to those Powers wrote to his wife from his prison cell. Air Force officers have concluded from the letter that McKone, while not brainwashed, has been at least brain-rinsed.

If the two lieutenants should be tried for espionage as the Soviets have threatened, the Air Force expects them to testify pretty much as Powers did. Unlike the U-2, however, the RB-47 was shot down over international waters.

An analysis of Powers' performance as the reluctant star of Russia's recent espionage extravaganza has convinced Air Force experts that he was subtly coerced into following the Soviet propaganda line.

They doubt that he was physically tortured. More likely, he was kept in a state of anxiety until he became susceptible to the suggestions of his defense attorney.

They consider it significant that he was permitted no visitors before the trial who might have disrupted the mental pressure he was under and started him thinking along new lines.

Except for enough independence to be convincing, he testified at his trial as the Kremlin must have wished. He echoed the propaganda line that he was the unwitting, unwilling tool of the Pentagon. He also claimed he was hit at 68,000 feet, thus confirming the Kremlin story.

This is completely contrary, however, to the evidence our tracking stations picked up. Powers' voice was heard over the emergency "G" channel tersely repeating the word, "Flameout!" He shouted nothing about being hit.

He was tracked making a controlled descent in a spiral from 70,000 feet to 37,000 feet. The voices of the Soviet defenders were also heard crackling over their transmitters. One shouted, "He's turning left!" Another, "He's coming lower!" But there were no triumphant shouts about scoring a hit.

Photographs of the U-2 wreckage, displayed in Moscow's Gorki Park, confirm the "flameout" report. The blades of the jet engine were bent, indicating the engine had indeed stopped. If the engine had been running, the blades would have been sheared off.

Whatever methods the Russians used to extract the testimony they wanted from Powers, they probably are giving the same treatment now to McKone and Olmstead.

For to the Kremlin, these American boys are merely pawns in the greater game of international politics.

Note 1—Both Mrs. McKone and Mrs. Olmstead have sent appeals for clemency to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. After two weeks, they still haven't received a reply.

Note 2—Intelligence officers are mystified over the "secret" reports White House press secretary Jim Hagerty claimed President Eisenhower received during the Powers trial. Everyone else in Washington, including top intelligence people, saw only the daily press reports.

Under The Asphalt
House investigators, peeking under the asphalt in Florida for federal highway scandals, have struck pay dirt.

Their first case will involve Roveri Dolfi who, until his recent ouster as resident engineer, passed on all highway construction in the Orlando area. At the same time, he owned an interest in at least three firms which did business with the highway contractors whose work he inspected.

For a $5,000 "loan," Dolfi was carried on the books of the Seminole Paving and Engineering Company as a one-third owner. The firm received most of its jobs from the Langston Construction Company whose principal owner, Ed Langston, is president of the Florida Road Builders Association.

Dolfi is half owner of the Lloyd Construction Company which also depends upon state road builders for most of its business. He owns another 19 per cent interest in the Cook-Waddell Insurance Agency which sells insurance to highway contractors.

A house that was moved from a highway construction job also turned upon property owned by Dolfi. The contractor, Allen Campbell Company of Tyler, Texas, sold five houses from the right-of-way to International House Mover, Inc., for $5,000.

Then Dolfi remarked he would like to have one of the houses. Since he had the power to approve or reject the construction work, the contractor naturally was eager to oblige.

House Moving

By knocking $1,000 off the price, the construction company retrieved one of the houses and arranged to have it moved to Dolfi's property. All Dolfi ever paid was $225 to International House Mover for transplanting the house. Even this covered only out-of-pocket costs for the move.

Dolfi admitted to this column he had paid nothing for the house which cost the Campbell Company $1,000. He also acknowledged his interests in the firms that have been dealing with highway contractors.

However, he insisted that he had done nothing wrong, that he had never approved shoddy construction work in return for favors.

Both state and federal investigators, working together on the highway scandals, have uncovered other evidence that will rock the Florida Road Board.

Note—The same team that investigated labor racketeering for the Senate rackets committee is now handling the highway investigation for the House Roads subcommittee. In Georgia, these sleuths discovered a whisky still operating at one highway construction job. When they looked up the highway foreman to ask about the bootleg brew, they found him plowing his farm with government-owned tractors.

Loss Of U.S. Gold

By Leslie Gould

The United States is losing gold again. Stocks of the metal are now the lowest since prewar days. So far this year the gold loss is $424 million, of which $290 million has been in the last six weeks.

This is on top of a slightly more than $1 billion loss last year nearly 2½ billion in 1958.

From the all-time high of $24 billion, 608 million reached in August of 1949, the U. S. has lost $5 billion, 576 million in gold.

The loss last year and in 1958 was due to an unfavorable American balance of payments running at the rate of $3 to $4 billion a year. This resulted from higher imports and declining exports and continued heavy handouts to foreign countries from the U. S. Treasury.

The current loss is due to a flow of American funds to Europe, attracted by much higher interest rates there. The foreign banks in turn are converting the dollar balances so received into gold.

While the surface causes of the two outward movements are different, underneath there is the same doubt in foreign minds as to the soundness of the dollar.

The balance of payments picture has improved some, with an expansion of American exports. For the first six months this year exports have exceeded imports by $2 billion while for the full year 1959 the export surplus was only $1.1 billion.

In prior years the U. S. had a large export surplus—enough to offset the "give-aways." The surplus in '58 was $3½ billion and in '57 $6½ billion. Ten years ago it was $5.3 billion. Right after the war and up to '58, the U. S. had little competition in the world markets. The Communist countries were only talking of an economic war, and the former enemy countries—now allies—had yet to build up their industrial potential.

The truth of the matter is that the U. S. is no longer that "rich uncle" with an unlimited bank account.

That picture has now changed. The Communist world is able to compete in certain markets—oil being the latest. Japan and West Germany have become industrial powerhouses. There are no shortages.

High American wages add to the problem and partly to offset this more and more American firms are establishing foreign factories. While some may find benefits from such migration illusionary, it is a factor in the unfavorable balance of payments.

While there is no "run" on the dollar as of now, one could develop. The U. S. dollar is vulnerable. The so-called gold backing is more a myth than a fact.

Under the present Federal Reserve regulations, there must be a reserve of gold equal to 25 per cent of the outstanding Federal Reserve banknotes and the deposits at the 12 Reserve banks.

Thus roughly $12 billion in gold must be held for this purpose. That leaves about $7 billion in so-called "free gold" to meet demands of foreign sources.

The foreign claims that can be made against this "free" gold are now around $20 billion—these are short-term foreign balances here, foreign holdings of U. S. government bonds and other short-term paper and obligations. Ten years ago these short-term or liquid dollar asset holdings of foreign sources was less than $10 billion.

In this same period "free" gold has dropped from $13 billion. Ten years ago, the "free" gold exceeded these foreign claims by more than $3 billion. Today there is a deficit of around $13 billion.

The truth of the matter is that the U. S. is no longer that "rich uncle" with an unlimited bank account.

Try And Stop Me

A paunchy graduate was sitting in the foyer of the Harvard club when the author of a current non-fiction best seller asked to be introduced. Naturally, the grad was flattered, but felt compelled to ask, "Are you sure you're not mistaking me for someone else?"

"You're the fellow I want, all right," the famous author assured him. "For three afternoons in succession now I've seen you sound asleep in that chair with a copy of my new book open on your lap. What's it worth to you to switch to something else?"

Telephone Co. Will Expand Area Facilities

Tri-Towns, Keyser To Be Affected

PIEDMONT — Service for subscribers residing in the Tri-Towns and Keyser areas served by the C. and P. Telephone Company's local exchange will be improved within the next month, according to Henry Hornack, Keyser, plant wire chief.

In addition, the new switchboard positions will result in faster service in contacting an operator and in placing long distance calls.

To permit the installation of the new switchboards, the present boards will be moved toward the front of the Piedmont exchange. Plans also call for changing the front window structure on the exchange building and for the necessary brick and paint work for a more attractive building.

The improved service will be the result of the installation of two additional cables into the Piedmont exchange and the addition of two operator positions on the switchboard, increasing the number of operator positions to nine.

Cables have been placed between Keyser and Piedmont and will be put into operation as soon as the two new switchboards are received and installed. The work is scheduled to be completed early in September.

The added facilities in the local exchange will alleviate the reception of a busy signal when Tri-Towns subscribers dial "SU" to obtain Keyser numbers.

Group Visits Organ Factory

FROSTBURG — A group from First Presbyterian Church, interested in the pipe organ, visited the Moller Organ Works in Hagerstown early this week. Making the trip were Mrs. Blaine Willetts, Mrs. Francis Richardson, Thomas Richardson, Mrs. Emmett M. Oetichus, Jacquelin Smith and Mrs. B. U. Smith.

The group viewed the building of an organ from the rough pine wood to the finished product, saw the intricate mechanisms and watched the making of the pipes starting from the molten liquid until they were installed in the console. The Moller Company makes everything for their organs except the keys and motors. It is the largest company in the world and has made 60 percent of the world's organs. It takes 14 months to build one and the workmen were working on the 9,500th organ made by the company.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Stop loss selling tumbled rye futures to new lows for the season Wednesday on the Board of Trade. Wheat and corn closed mostly steady, while other grains eased in a generally quiet market.

At the final bell, wheat was unchanged to up 1/4; corn off 1/4 to up 1/4; oats off 1/4 to 3/4; rye off 1/4 to 1/4; and soybeans off 1/4 to 1/4.

In wheat, scattered buying came from mills and commission houses. Commercial interests brought September and sold December and March.

Country selling of wheat continued at a slow pace. Japan reportedly bought about 13,000 tons of Western white wheat.

Corn remained steady. An industry report said corn development averaged a week behind normal.

Oats finished mostly easier in a mixed trade. Cash houses bought September and sold December at 4 1/2 cents difference. Commission houses had September on tap.

Soybeans eased in quiet trading after early firm tones. Cash beans were firm.

Oil held steady, while meals advanced. Norway took 85,800 bushels of soybeans while an additional 5,000 tons were sold to the continent.

The July crush amounted to 31,277,000 bushels, which was little changed from either a month or a year ago. Export inspections last week were 2,544,000 bushels, bringing the season's total to 127,224,000 bushels, compared with 102,152,000 last year.

Romney Deaf School Head To Be Chosen

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Board of Education will interview applicants for the position of Romney Deaf & Blind school superintendent during a two-day meeting opening here Monday.

H. F. Schunhoff announced his resignation from the post earlier this month.

On Monday the board will consider bids submitted on a new men's dormitory for Marshall College and a student union building for West Virginia State; fill five vacancies on the State Textbook Advisory Committee and appoint five others to the West Virginia Advisory Council on Teacher Education.

Also to be considered Monday are bids submitted earlier for construction of a women's dormitory, a men's dormitory and a student-family housing unit, all at Concord College. The overall cost has been estimated at $1.6 million.

Consideration of a state college budgets for 1961-62 and discussion of legislative proposals will highlight Tuesday's session.

Raymond Dispanet Quits As Hardy Co. School Head

Accepts Post In Morgan County

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Raymond S. Dispanet, superintendent of Hardy County Schools and secretary of the Hardy County Board of Education, has resigned his position and accepted a similar position with the Morgan County schools. Dispanet has been superintendent of Hardy County schools for the past 17 years. The change was effective August 16.

A native of Mathias, he was graduated from the Mathias Junior High School, attended Bridge-water, Va., High School, Shenandoah College, Madison College, both in Virginia and graduated with an AB degree from Shepherd College in 1938. He received his masters degree from West Virginia University in 1942.

He began his career as a teacher in a one-room school at Pleasant Dale, was principal at Baker Elementary School for five years and was principal at Moorefield Graded School for three years before being named as county superintendent.

Mr. Dispanet has served as president of the West Virginia Association of School Administrators and was chairman of its Formula Committee and its Steering Committee. He was also chairman of the Legislative Committee for the West Virginia Education Association and was a delegate to the White House Conference on Education in 1956. Dispanet served as one of three people on the State Education Council which was created by the West Virginia Legislature.

Mr. Dispanet is a member of the Church of the Brethren and has been active in county and community affairs. He is past president of the Moorefield Lions Club, a Past Master of Moorefield Masonic Lodge, a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner. He is also a member of the Hardy County Farm Bureau.

Council Meeting Held This Week At FSTC

"A Council Within A Council" is the term for the above group meeting during one of the periods at the Maryland Association of Student Councils workshop conference at Frostburg State Teachers College this week. According to Felix Simon, Baltimore, director of the conference, this group meets daily to discuss the program, its merits, suggesting modifications or changes, if necessary. The group acts as a Student Council would operate in a high school which is the primary purpose of the workshop—to train student council leaders of high schools and junior high schools. The conference will close Saturday at noon. The group will hold a supper, campfire and songfest at Pleasant Valley Friday evening.

Miners To Test Welfare Plan In Court Case

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. (UPI)—A campaign has been started in this area to raise funds to finance a suit to test the legality of the United Mine Workers union's withdrawal of death and hospital benefits to miners who have been unemployed more than a year.

Bascom Dean and three other jobless miners started the drive. Dean said if enough money could be raised, a suit would be filed in U. S. District Court at Huntington against the UMW Welfare and Retirement Fund.

The welfare cutoffs were effective as of last July 1. The union said this was necessary because the fund was rapidly being depleted as payments far exceeded income from a 40-cent-a-ton royalty on coal.

Another group of miners in the Beckley region previously condemned the action and have another meeting scheduled Sept. 3 at Affinity, Raleigh County, to discuss their next move to try and get benefits reinstated.

Post Installs Officers Today

PIEDMONT—Newly elected officers of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion, will be installed at 8 p. m. today at the Legion home, according to William L. Gardner, Keyser, retiring commander.

They will include Russell R. McRobie, commander; Gardner, first vice commander; Carl D. Bosley, second vice commander; Louis W. Hicks, adjutant; H. Glenn Boyd, finance officer; G. Elmer May, historian; Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan, child welfare officer; Dr. Robert W. Bess Sr., Americanism officer; Wilbur Wagoner, chaplain and Thomas Footen, sergeant-at-arms.

Plan Rally Day

PIEDMONT—Rally Day services will be observed by the Sunday School of the Presbyterian Church September 25. A goal of 200 or more has been set.

New Midland Crossing Is Being Built

Council Studies Water Pressure

MIDLAND—Work on the new grade crossing at Midland is progressing, the Mayor and Council was informed at a recent meeting. Contract for grading and installation of pipe was awarded to Robert Turner. Rails, cross-ties and warning signs are being installed by employees of the Western Maryland Railway.

This crossing, officials said, will provide access to several families and dwellings in event of fire or other emergency.

Commissioner Harry Devlin reported to Council that he had met with a representative of the Public Service Commission from Baltimore to discuss the low volume of water in fire plugs on Paradise Street. The water commissioner explained that the low pressure at this section is a hazard and remedial measures should be taken.

Council voted to approve the increase in membership dues of the Maryland Municipal League.

Town attorney, Jack I. Mullan, suggested that a hearing for increased water rates be set up with the PSC, so that the water system can be improved.

Announce Birth

FROSTBURG—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Powers, Long Branch, N. J. announce the birth of a daughter, Patti Suzanne on August 9 there. Mrs. Powers is the former Suzanne Sowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Sowers Sr., Lonaconing.

17th Olympic Games To Open Today In Regal Splendor

Pope, Khrushchail Start Of Contests

Athletic Events To Continue Until Sept. 11 At Rome

ROME (AP)—The XVII Olympic Games open Thursday in regal splendor, hailed by two world leaders at opposite poles of ideology.

Pope John XXIII told 4,000 athletes and thousands of spectators in St. Peter's Square "may the best man win."

The pontiff, who was given a rousing cheer, declared his "very strong desire that the contests of these days will benefit you all, and that from the all without exception will be able to gain some advantage."

Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia, in a message to the athletes from the Kremlin declared that the games "increase friendship and mutual understanding among the peoples and thus strengthen the peace of the world."

Stage Is Perfect

The stage has been set perfectly. The weather is bright. The torch, lit by the sun on sacred Mount Olympus in Greece, has been brought to the Campidoglio, the Roman city hall on Capitoline Hill looking down on the ruins of the ancient Forum.

These are the biggest games ever held—nearly 8,000 athletes from 85 nations. They cost the most to stage—32,000,000 dollars. They last until Sept. 11.

Leonid Kominkov, a Soviet official, descended on the American sector of the Olympic Village and told Kenneth L. Wilson, of Chicago, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee:

"As a symbol of our friendship we'd like to present you with our Olympic flag and wish your athletes the very best of luck."

Russia also moved out boldly to bid for the 1968 games. Nikolai Romanov, chief of the Russian team, said he would ask the International Olympic Committee for the games on behalf of Moscow.

Every indication points to a record smashing performance in these games in virtually all of the 18 different sports, and a titanic battle for unofficial team honors between the United States and Russia. The Soviets lost in their first Olympic appearance, in 1952 at Helsinki, but won in 1956 in Melbourne. Until recently they have been favored here but a late shift in sentiment points to a possible American victory.

March Into Stadium

Thursday is the great day of the Olympic ceremony, when half of the competing athletes march in the glistering cement and marble stadium into which 100,000 are expected to jam their way.

The torch will be carried from the Capitoline Hill to light the flame that burns throughout the games, day and night.

President Giovanni Gronchi of Italy will proclaim open the games, cannon will boom, doves by the thousand will circle skyward, and Adolfo Consolini, Italy's Olympic discus champion of 1948, will take the oath of sportsmanship on behalf of all contestants.

"Cokie" Robertson, Former Valley Ace, Named Owls' Coach

Robert "Cokie" Robertson, former Valley High School basketball star, and member of the Lonaconing team of the Twilight Baseball League, is the new head basketball coach at Westminster (Md.) High School.

"Cokie" will take over his teaching duties at the Carroll County school September 6.

Robertson was graduated from Valley High School in 1956 and made the W.M.I. all-star basketball team in his senior year. He won the league foul shooting championship with an average of .817 on 49 conversions in 60 attempts. He finished second in area scoring with a total of 449 tallies in 20 games.

In June he was graduated with a degree in physical education from the University of Maryland where he played freshman basketball.

Phils Win, 5-3

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Art Mahafey, rookie Philadelphia pitcher won his third major league victory as he stopped the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-3, Wednesday night. Mahafey (1-0) and H. Smith, winner—Mahafey (3-0). Loser—Jackson (14-11). HR—Walls, Taylor, Boyer.

Hyndman Scores 10-5 Win Over Barrelville Tossers

Mt. Savage Blanks Frostburg, 1 To 0

Hyndman's Merchants, battling to overtake Barrelville, belted the Old Exports, 10-5, yesterday at Barrelville to close the gap on the league-leaders in the Pen-Mar Baseball League.

Ab See went the distance for Hyndman although touched for 11 hits by Barrelville. Dave Richards was knocked out of the box in the second inning for Barrelville to take the loss, his fifth against 10 victories.

Hyndman hopped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning and then blasted Barrelville for six more tallies in the second as See coasted to his fourth win in a game called after seven innings of play because of darkness.

Bob Bryant, Gene Stair, Cliff Clites and Clay Leydig each obtained two hits for Hyndman. Leading batsmen for Barrelville were Pooch Lewis, Tojo Emerick and Bobby Mundeno, each with two singles, and Leroy Morris with a single and double.

Hyndman trails Barrelville (17-8) by a full game. The Merchants now have a 15-8 record.

At Mt. Savage Bobby Dawson pitched his second consecutive shutout as the Old Germans edged Frostburg, 1-0 for their 14th win of the campaign.

Dawson, who Sunday pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Flintstone, continued his runless skein by blanking the Merchants in a game called at the end of 7½ innings because of darkness.

Lonaconing Wins Twilight Opener At Klondyke, 13-1

Lonaconing captured the opener of the best-of-three semi-final playoff series by turning back the Colts at Klondyke, 13-1, in the Twilight Baseball League.

The winners hopped on Jim Winters for eight runs in the first two innings and coasted to victory behind the steady eight-hit pitching of John Wilson.

Cokie Robertson collected three hits for Lonaconing, including a bases-empty homer in the first inning. Bill Richmond chipped in with a pair of three-baggers and Curtis Johnson hit for the circuit with a mate aboard in the fourth for the winners. Big guns for Klondyke were Charley Winters and Mike Cunningham who each had two hits in four trips to the plate.

The two teams will clash in the second game of the playoff series on Friday at Barton field at 5:30 p.m.

The other Twilight League semi-final series between Barton and Westernport will get underway this evening at 5:30 p.m. at Barton. Friday Barton and Westernport will clash on the latter's diamond in the second game. The A's score:

Lonaconing 330 300 2-13 14 1
Klondyke 000 000 1-1 8 2
John Wilson and Everett Spiker, Jim Winters, Ritchey (3), Warnick (5) and Burner, Cutter (6). LP—Winters. HR—Robertson, Johnson (Lonaconing).

The curve-balling righthander allowed seven hits, but fanned 11 and walked three in his eight innings of pitching, as he won his eighth victory. Bob Keister took the loss, although he allowed only seven hits also, walked two and struck out five.

Mt. Savage's only run came in the second inning when Kenny Johnson singled to open the frame and went to second on a wild pitch. Ronnie Neubiser walked and Rodney Johnson bunted safely to load the sacks. George Bishfield forced Ken Johnson at the plate and Dawson fanned for the second out, but Steve Faulkner walked to force home the winning tally.

Leading hitters for Mt. Savage were Carl Donald with a triple and single and Ken Johnson with a pair of one-base knocks.

Frostburg loaded the bases in the eighth inning with one out, but Dawson bore down to fan the next two batters to end the threat and preserve his shutout victory.

AT MT. SAVAGE
Mt. Savage 000 000 00-0 7 1
Frostburg 010 000 00-1 7 2

Redmen To Play McKeesport Team Sunday Double Bill

The Redmen team of the Rec Softball League will play an exhibition doubleheader with the Stanko All-Stars of McKeesport, Pa., at Stitzer Field. Game time will be 2 p.m.

A Redmen celebration will be held during the day with the Blue Angels Drum and Bugle Corps of Westernport putting on a show between games. The Junior Redmen of Kanawha Council No. 2 of Westernport will exhibit their drill work between games.

Members of Algonquin Council Degree of Pocahontas; Tetonia Council of Westernport; Petunia Tribe of Midland; Tonkaway Tribe of Cumberland; and Blackheart Tribe of Westernport will be in full Indian regalia during the celebration.

Athletics Down Washington, 6-4

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Kansas City Athletics scored four unearned runs in the fifth inning Wednesday night and went on to beat the Washington Senators, 6-4.

Loser Camilo Pascual pitched hitless ball for the first four innings and then gave up two consecutive singles to start the fifth. He struck out the next two men. Johnny Kucks then grounded to Reno Bertoia who let the ball get through for an error. The A's went on to score four runs.

Kansas City 200 000 020-4 9 1

VFW Advances To Finals In Chair League

Pennant Winners Edge Moose, 3-2

The pennant-winning Veterans of Foreign Wars tossers swept into the finals of the Rocking Chair Softball League at Stitzer Field yesterday by turning back the Loyd Order of Moose team for the second straight game in their semi-final series, 3-2. The VFW copped the opener, 6-1.

Floyd "Pete" Elliott picked up the victory after relieving starter Jack Eckard on the mound in the fifth with the score tied 2-2.

The VFW won the game in the seventh when Ronnie Cage walked with the bases loaded. Moose pitcher Webb Hull gave up a single to Butch Johnson to open the seventh. He then walked Ted Lurbin and Mil Dean to load the sacks. When he threw two balls to Cage, Hull was relieved by Dick Klavuhn who finished walking Cage to force home the winning tally.

George McGregor paced the VFW at the plate with a double and single and Phil Reuschel collected a pair of singles. John Price had a two-bagger and single. Bob Keyser had two hits and Herman Lewis hit a double for the Moose.

In the other semi-final series Ritter's A.C. will meet Celanese today at 6 p.m. at Stitzer Field. Ritter's won the opener, 2-0, on Tuesday. The score:

Gresham Scores Over Leroy Jeffery

CHICAGO (AP)—Gene Gresham, polished lightweight from Detroit, Wednesday night hammered out a unanimous 10 round decision over Leroy Jeffery.

Birds Snap Tiger Win Skein, 9-2

Jack Fisher Hurls His Ninth Victory

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Jack Fisher broke the Detroit Tigers' seven-game winning streak by pitching the Baltimore Orioles to a 9-2 victory Wednesday night, with a seven-hit effort.

The victory enabled the Orioles to once again go into a second place tie with the Chicago White Sox. Both clubs are 1½ games behind the leading Yankees, who defeated the Chisox earlier on Wednesday.

In registering his ninth victory against as many losses, Fisher was supported by a 13-hit attack on three Tiger hurlers—starter and loser Bob Bruce (2-4), Pete Burnside and Paul Foytack.

Brooks Robinson's bases-loaded triple off Bruce in the third highlighted a five-run inning and gave Fisher his ample cushion.

The Orioles tallied four more off Burnside in the seventh to complete their scoring. Fisher aided his own cause by singling home two tallies with Marv Breeding doubling in a third and Gene Woodling singling home the fourth.

The Tigers, held to five hits until the ninth by Fisher, averted a shutout on a walk, a double by Rocky Colavito and a pinch single by Lou Berberet.

Ed Barley, who won the first game with an eighth-inning home run for the Bowler, obtained the losers' only hit yesterday, a sixth-inning single off Smith who struck out eight and walked three. No Bowler runner got past second base as the Sports Shoppe hurler won his 18th victory of the year. The game was played in the fast time of an hour and 10 minutes. The scores:

AT POST FIELD
Sports Shoppe 112 000 0-4 7 1
The Bowler 000 000 0-6 1 1
Smith and Fair, Kenney and Weakley.

AT EAST SIDE
Redmen 100 000 0-1 4 0

PAIRINGS MADE FOR DeMARCY PLAY
Pairings for play in the nine-hole handicap golf tournament for the DeMarcy Trophy at the Cumberland Country Club were announced yesterday. Match play for the trophy will begin immediately.

The pairings pit John Mosner vs. William Bibby; John Baggett vs. George Millenson; R. E. Guard vs. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris; Ralph R. Webster vs. H. B. Wood; Cy Bowers vs. L. E. Eisenberg; W. A. Douglas vs. Ray Cannon; Joe Mello vs. J. H. Rannels and L. W. Brown vs. Max Bastian.

The CCC also announced that Fred Singleton defeated Jimmy Del Busso 1 up in 18 holes to capture the caddies championship trophy.

Redmen Defeat Bennett's, 1-0; Enter Finals

Sports Shoppe Tops The Bowler, 4 To 1

The Redmen edged Bennett's Transfer, 1-0, at East Side yesterday to advance to the finals of the Rec Softball League playoffs. The triumph was the second starlight for the winners of the National Division over Bennett's, who lost the first game of the best-of-three series, 2-1.

Denny Knippenberg hurled his 13th consecutive victory this year as the unbeaten Redmen ace allowed only three hits in outpitching Pickles Doolan.

Doolan allowed the Redmen only four bingles but lost the game in the first inning when Bill Cook walked. Bill Sites singled and Fred McKees walked to load the sacks. Denny Martin then hit a sacrifice fly into center field to bring home the only run of the game.

At Post Field yesterday the Sports Shoppe evened its semi-final series with The Bowler, winning 4-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Rich Smith. The Bowler upset Sports Shoppe in the opener of their best-of-three playoffs, 3-2, handing Smith and his mates their first loss of the season.

Sports Shoppe scored in the first inning off Bill Kenny when Van Parsons walked, took second on a passed ball and tallied on Mike Lease's double. In the second inning Baldy Powe hit a two-bagger, went to third on a long fly ball to center and scored on a wild throw. The final two runs came home in the third when Parsons was hit by a pitch. Lease doubled and both came in on Smith's two-run single.

Ed Barley, who won the first game with an eighth-inning home run for The Bowler, obtained the losers' only hit yesterday, a sixth-inning single off Smith who struck out eight and walked three. No Bowler runner got past second base as the Sports Shoppe hurler won his 18th victory of the year. The game was played in the fast time of an hour and 10 minutes. The scores:

SPORTS TRAIL

By ED FITE

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Personable Hank Stram, head coach of the American Football League's Dallas Texans, is living proof that not all the big jumps are made in the Olympic Games.

A year ago, Stram was backfield coach under Andy Gustafson at the University of Miami and was relatively unknown outside the coaching profession. At the moment he is coach of one of the winningest teams in the new American Football League.

Lamar Hunt, owner of the Dallas Texans and founder of the AFL, gave Stram an opportunity to make a jump that rivaled almost any ever made in sports. Stram, a fierce competitor, is making sure Hunt's faith was well-founded.

Wins Four Games

The Texans have played four pre-season games under Stram's guidance and have won all of them.

Oakland was a 20-13 victim in the opener. Then followed Houston, which lost 27-10, Boston, went down by a 24-14 decision, and New York, a 38-14 loser.

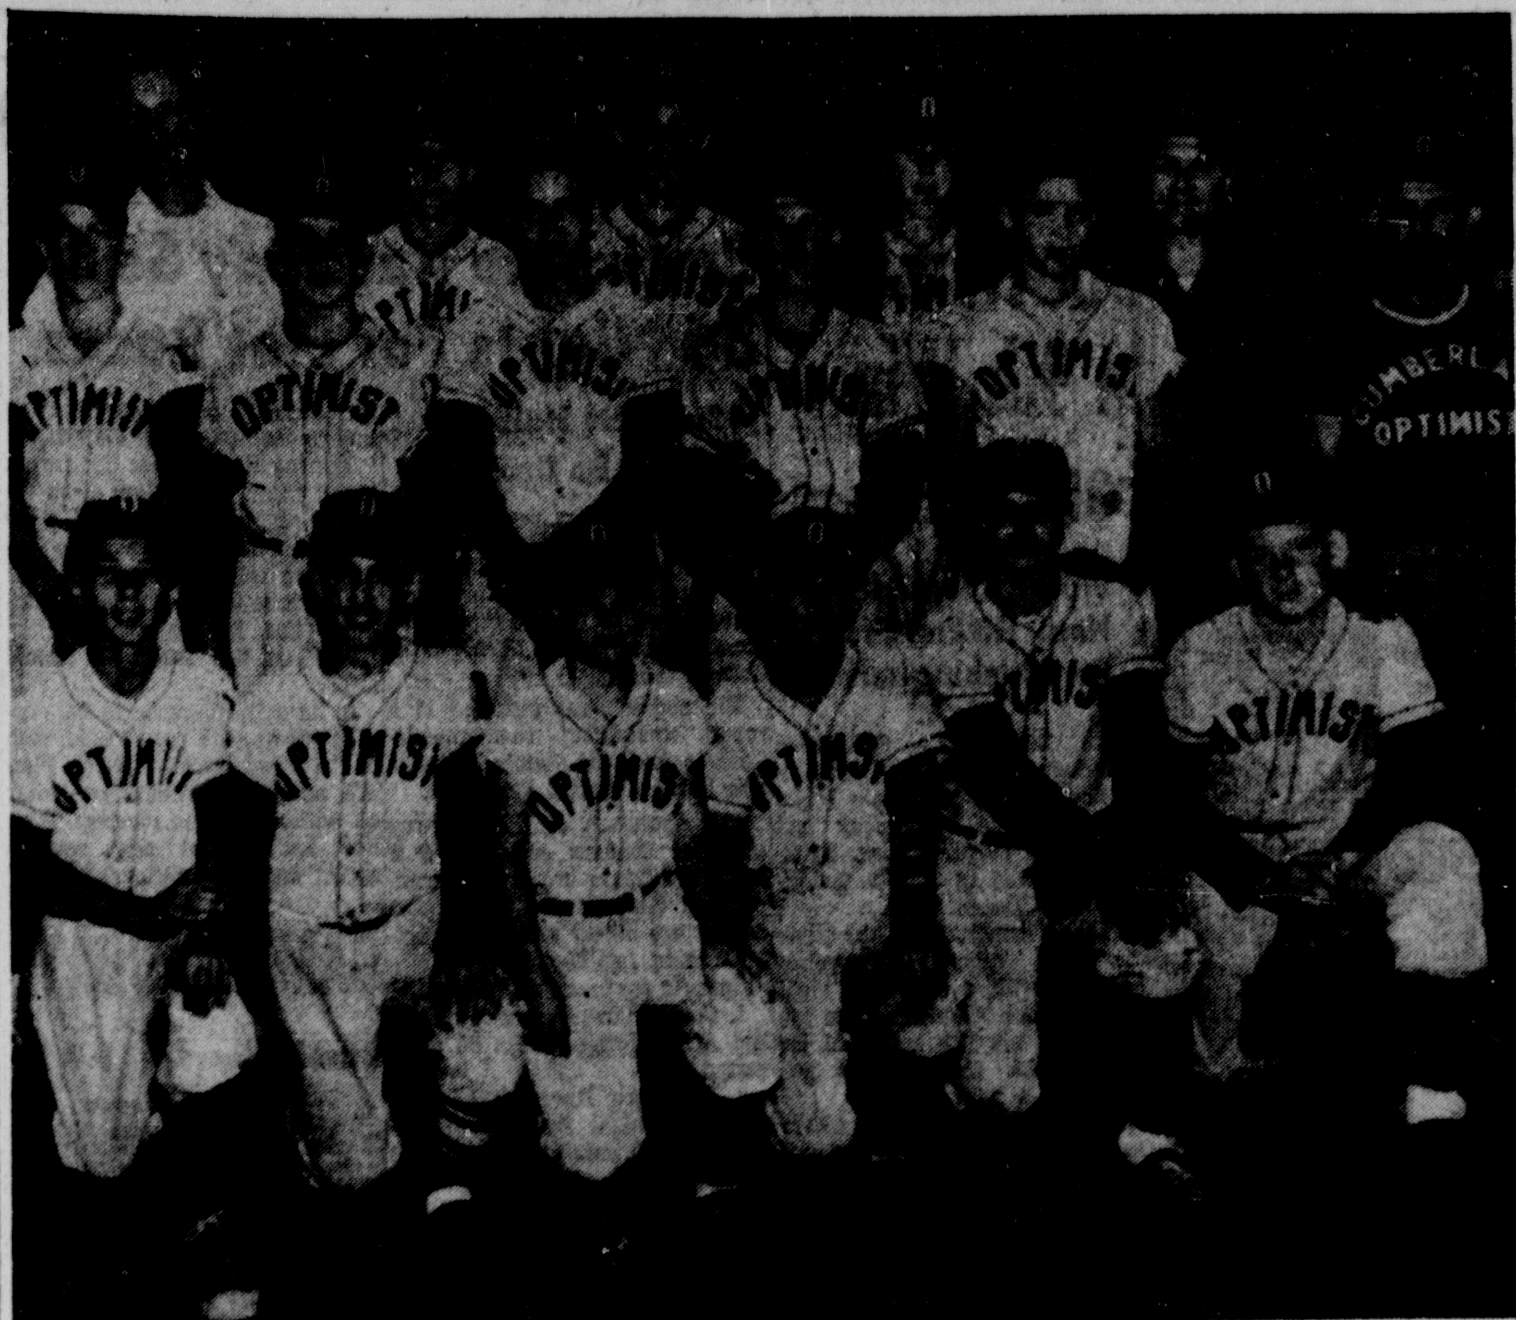

Winning pre-season games is something many pro coaches figure is merely a good tune-up for the regular season. Not so with Stram. He feels every game is important.

Dallas, with a population of some 750,000, is the smallest city in the nation to have teams in both the AFL and the rival National Football League. Hunt and Stram feel the team which produces the best product is going to be the one the fans support.

For that reason Stram is out to win. His oft-stated formula for winning football games is "versatility and balance."

his fellow coaches for his work and Fran Curci of Miami—have received All-Star recognition. Stram coached six seasons at Purdue, one at SMU, two at Notre Dame and one at Miami before coming to the Texans.

Johnson Refuses To Dip U.S. Flag

ROME (AP)—Rafer Johnson held the American flag high Wednesday during a rehearsal for the big Olympic ceremonial opening parade which will be held Thursday.

Other flag bearers dipped their banners in salute as they passed the president's box at the stadium. But not Johnson.

When asked why he had not dipped the flag, Johnson said: "We don't drop the American flag."

The U.S. tradition of not dipping the flag in honor of the host country's ruler was started in 1908 when an Irish-born American carried the stars and stripes at the Australian Women Still Fear Russians

ROME (UPI)—The manager of the Australian women's track team said Wednesday that she hopes it's true that the U.S. ladies track team is the best in history.

But she still thinks the Australians can beat them.

"It's about time the United States had a decent women's track team," said tiny vivacious Mrs. Doris Magee, one of the leading track women in Australia.

The Australian manager added, however, that it isn't really the Americans who have her worried this year—it's the Russians.

Luis Arroyo Saves Win For Ditmar

Sievers Belts Two Homers In Losing Game For Chicago

NEW YORK (UPI) — Southpaw Luis Arroyo kept the New York Yankees from falling out of first place Wednesday when he came out of the bullpen with two out and two in the ninth inning to save a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Arroyo needed only one pitch to help the Yankees increase their American League lead to 1½ games over the second place Sox.

He took over for winner Art Ditmar in the ninth following three straight hits. With two out, Roy Sievers, who had hit his 24th homer with the bases empty in the fourth inning, slammed his 25th into the left field seats with none on. Al Smith and Minnie Minoso then singled and manager Casey Stengel removed Ditmar in favor of Arroyo.

The stocky Puerto Rican southpaw induced Gene Freese to ground to Bobby Richardson, who retired him at first in the end game.

Tony Kubek's homer with the bases empty in the seventh inning off loser Herb Score turned out to be the winning run. Kubek also started a two-run rally in the first when he walked with one out and moved to second on Yogi Berra's single.

Both runners advanced on Mickey Mantle's infield out and Bill Skowron walked to fill the bases. Hector Lopez then singled sharply over shortstop Luis Aparicio's head to drive in Kubek and Berra.

Ditmar gave up six hits in gaining his 13th victory of the season, his sixth win in a row.

Sievers collected three of the six hits with a ground-rule double in the first inning to go with his two homers.

Good Move Is Stakes Winner

Vanderbilt Gray Wins $93,650 Event

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Good Move, a gray darter, closed with courage on the outside in the stretch and just got up to win the 69th running of the $93,650 Spinaway Stakes Wednesday.

A crowd of 14,771 saw Good Move drop her head on the post before the onrushing Honey Dear from C.V. Whitney's stable.

The two choices, Cambridge Stable's Shuette and Meadowbrook stable's Little Tumbler, raced each other into defeat in the first half mile and both backed up badly. Little Tumbler was third, two lengths before Shuette. The Spinaway drew seven of the top 2-year-old fillies in the East. All carried lead weights of 119 pounds. Good Move turned the 6 furlongs in 1:12 2-5.

Good Move, fourth recently to Shuette, Little Tumbler and Really Sunthin in the Schuylerville, was equipped with blinkers and the change evidently improved her considerably. She was rated in third place by Eric Guerin, some four lengths back of Little Tumbler and Shuette.

Patriots Cut Roster

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI)—The roster of the Boston Patriots professional football team was cut to the required 43 players Wednesday with the outright release of quarterback Dick Soergel of Oklahoma State and offensive end Carl Robinson of South Carolina State. The squad must eventually be cut to 33 players.

Practices Set

MORAGA, Calif. (UPI)—The San Francisco Forty Niners will hold open practice Thursday through Saturday, coach Red Hickey said Wednesday.

The Forty Niners drew a bye in the NFL exhibition schedule this week. Thursday's workout will be for rookies only, with the entire squad working out the next two days.

Stock Market's Advance Continues In High Gear

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market continued to strengthen Wednesday with easier money conditions again providing the main impetus.

The advance was the market's 13th in 15 sessions and restored more than $2 billion in stock values.

Wednesday's upsurge, modest when held against Tuesday's more spectacular gain, extended to 15 the string of sessions in which the number of advancing issues outnumbered the declines.

The chartists note that in November-December, 1952, gains of 16 successive days were followed by a series of losses. If the market can continue to forge ahead, the experts say, a new record on this score may be in the making.

Of the 1,232 issues appearing on the tape, 622 advanced, 85 to new highs, and 525 declined, only 5 to new lows. Trading fell a bit on the rise to 3,500,000 shares from 3,560,000 the day before.

The cut in the prime lending rate was the catalyst that enabled the market to score its best gain in three weeks Tuesday. Brokers reason that the prime rate removed the last vestige of tight money conditions, brightening the outlook for business generally, and reversing the fear of a bear market.

Industrial closed at 641.56 up 3.26, their highest level since July 1959. Rails were slightly lower until some late buying enabled the list to finish unchanged at 140.81. Utilities made it another 30-year high, rising 0.35 to 96.33, their best level since June 6, 1939 when the figure was 9.01.

Polio Vaccine Is Rushed To Garrett County

Health Official Also Is Assigned

A supply of polio vaccine and a health officer have arrived in Garrett County after one polio death and the hospitalization of three persons as polio suspects.

Dr. Arthur M. Jones, Garrett County health officer, said 20 vials of vaccine was rushed to Oakland Tuesday by State Police after authorities decided not to wait for 40 vials which had been mailed by the State Health Department.

Dr. Jones said the additional 40 vials arrived yesterday. He added many persons in Garrett County have requested the Salk inoculations following the reports of the possible polio attacks.

Dr. Glenn E. Gresham, an epidemiologist with the U. S. Public Health Service assigned to the State Health Department in Baltimore, arrived yesterday in Garrett County for an inspection tour.

Mrs. Ladonna Fitzwater, 27, of near Altamont, died Monday in a Pittsburgh hospital of bulbar polio.

Her youngest child, Michael, one, is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where doctors also believe he is suffering from polio. He was reported in "satisfactory" condition last night.

Two other children, not related to the Fitzwaters, also are patients in the Oakland hospital for treatment of apparent polio.

Dr. Jones said reports on laboratory tests have not yet been received on the illnesses of the three children.

Reported polio cases in the state total 14 so far this year, four more than for the same period last year.

There are three cases in Allegany County. Of eight cases treated at City Hospitals in Baltimore, this year, one is Stella Merrbach, 13, of Grantsville. She is reported in "satisfactory" condition.

W. J. Donahue Now Principal At Easton

William J. Donahue, 37-year-old native of Frostburg, has been promoted to the position of principal of Easton Junior-Senior High School in Talbot County on the Eastern Shore.

Mr. Donahue, who formerly taught at Allegany High School, went to Talbot County in September 1957 as principal of the St. Michael's High School, a smaller public high school. At that time he was appointed by Raymond J. McCullough, superintendent of Talbot County schools and former principal of Allegany High School. Mr. McCullough resigned this summer and is now on the faculty of Frostburg State Teachers College.

The new Easton principal was graduated from Beall High School in 1940. He attended Frostburg State Teachers College from 1940 until 1942 and then returned from 1947 until 1949 after World War II service. He taught mathematics at Allegany from 1949 to 1951.

From 1951 until 1953, Mr. Donahue was a civilian teacher at the U. S. Air Force Technical Training School at Keesler (Miss.) Air Force Base. In 1953 he returned to Allegany to teach commercial arithmetic. For his final two years at Allegany he served as guidance director.

During the four summers from 1954 through 1957, Mr. Donahue served as director of Sunshine Camp, which has been operated on MacDonald Terrace by the Cumberland Kiwanis Club each summer since 1940.

Parachute Seen Coming Down In Breezewood Area

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford last night said they received a report from a "reliable source" that a parachute had been seen floating earthward in the Breezewood area about dusk.

The police, in turn, notified a radar station at Blue Knob, and the Air Force at Middletown was to be notified, police said.

The man who claimed he saw the parachute said he plans to go to the area at the "crack of dawn" today and look for it.

Authorities said last night that the area is thickly covered with brush and is snake-infested. They received a call about 8 p.m.

LaVale Firemen Answer 2 Calls

Volunteer firemen of LaVale yesterday evening answered two calls including a brush fire which burned about a half-acre of land in the vicinity of Lovers Leap.

The fire scorched land along the B&O Railroad right of way and was brought under control with the use of Indian pumps and fire rakes by 18 volunteers who took two pumps and the equipment truck to the scene.

They received the initial call at 5:55 p. m. and were out about half an hour. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

In the other call they traveled to 1066 National Highway at 7:40 p. m. When they arrived on the scene they found a fire under control in the rear of the homes of George and Paul Boch, who were burning trash.

The 14 volunteers checked over the area and returned to the fire station.

Westvaco Directors Declare Dividend

The board of directors of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, meeting in New York Tuesday, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share on the company's common stock.

This dividend is payable October 3, to stockholders of record at 3 p. m. on September 6.

Perrin Wins Plaque

James A. Perrin, of Perrin and Perrin real estate and insurance agency, has been awarded a plaque by the America Fore Loyalty Group insurance companies for his 30 years as an agent for the group.

The presentation took place yesterday in the local firm's office at 70 Pershing Street.

Autopsy Shows Smith Died Of Heart Attack

Pinto Man Found In Burning Home

Frank Smith, 68-year-old retired railroad worker who was found dead by firemen in his burning home on Niner's Lane in Pinto Sunday evening, died of a heart attack, according to the deputy county medical examiner's office.

The medical examiner said last night that an autopsy and laboratory analysis was completed last evening and there is no evidence that the victim had burned to death, as was first reported.

The examiner said there was positive evidence that Mr. Smith had died from a heart attack. He had been smoking, and a lighted cigarette fell into the upholstered chair where he was seated. The cigarette ignited the chair and burned an area of the floor of the house.

The victim's body was scorched but was not "too badly burned," the physician said. There was no evidence of carbon dioxide or burns in the lungs, and other tests showed that the victim had suffered a heart attack. It is reasonable to surmise, the examiner said, that Mr. Smith died before the fire actually started.

Members of the Cresap Volunteer Fire Company, headed by Fire Chief Louis Winter, answered a neighbor's call to the home, a small dwelling a short distance from US Route 220. They reported that a small hole had burned through the floor and the chair in which Mr. Smith had been seated was practically destroyed. If the fire had spread any farther, they reported, the victim and the chair would have fallen through the floor into the basement.

The examiner's report ruled out any indication of foul play or death by asphyxiation or burning.

The purpose of the meeting was to go over the progress the city has made in the reclassification program which became effective on July 1.

The board also decided to hold examinations next month for the position of captain in the detective bureau of the Police Department and also for the position of superintendent of streets.

Three applications were received for the position in the police department, and four for the position in the street department.

The examinations will be given on September 27, the time and place to be announced later. Meanwhile the examination material will be prepared by the board members.

Present at the meeting last night were Ralph R. Webster, chairman of the board; Francis Kenney, a member of the board and Wallace Ullery, city clerk, secretary. The other member of the board, Fred Ryan, is on vacation and was not present.

SRC Buys Land For Road Work

Three deeds to property needed by the Maryland State Roads Commission for highway improvement work were filed yesterday in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Land in the Mexico Farms area was sold to the SRC by Andrew J. Irons and his wife, Zella, and by Ada F. Collins and the First Federal Savings and Loan Association Inc.

Paul J. Buchholtz and Mary J. Buchholtz sold property on the southeast side of McMullen Highway in the vicinity of the Circle Inn Property to the SRC.

Garrett Suit Moved To Allegany County

A property damage suit in which the plaintiff is seeking $600 has been moved from Garrett County Circuit Court to Allegany County Circuit Court.

The declaration papers were filed here yesterday by Robert Hutcheson and the Emco Insurance Company, plaintiffs in the suit against Luther McClintock of Grantsville.

On December 26, 1959 the car owned by Hutcheson was in the possession of John Miller who was driving on U. S. Route 40 west toward Grantsville in a "careful and prudent manner," the declaration said.

A truck owned and operated by McClintock also was traveling west. The plaintiff blew his horn as a signal that he intended to pass.

The defendant drove to the left center of the highway to enter a private driveway and the plaintiff's car was forced off the road and was damaged $576.14, the declaration stated.

Strange Crawling Creature Found Along Mason Road

A pale green, orange and black "horror movie monstrosity" in miniature form crawling along Mason Road yesterday was taken to the office of Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, for identification purposes.

James B. Arnold, assistant farm agent, looked over the unusual worm-like creature and scanned a number of books to learn what it is.

However he is stumped and plans to send the creature to Ted Bissell, Extension entomologist at the University of Maryland.

The creature measures about six inches in length and is about two inches in girth.

It has a small orange head and tail section, eight orange and black "horns," as well as a couple of feelers up front. It has about 10 body segments which move in accordion-like fashion, three pairs of orange legs in front and four pairs of feet toward the rear of its body. Also, the creature has small bristles along its body.

Seen through a magnifying glass, it would scare the daylight out of most anyone.

Forestry Camp Boy Jailed Here On Entry Charge

A 16-year-old Silver Spring youth, who escaped from the Green Ridge Forest Camp for Boys and was later recaptured, was taken to the Allegany County jail yesterday on a charge of breaking and entering a Little Orleans home in July and taking merchandise, police said.

On July 24 the youth was reported to have broken into the dwelling of R. C. Fletcher, taking a hunting knife, canned goods, field glasses, cigars and whisky valued at $17.65.

He was arrested at the camp yesterday by State Police Trooper Joseph Lechlitter and taken to the county jail pending a trial.

Civil Service Unit Discusses Classifications

A number of personnel problems of classified employees of the City of Cumberland were discussed last night at City Hall during a meeting of the Civil Service Board.

The board was advised on the problems by Milton B. Millon, director of the Maryland Technical Advisory Service, and Allen Beals, executive secretary of the Maryland Municipal League.

The purpose of the meeting was to go over the progress the city has made in the reclassification program which became effective on July 1.

The board also decided to hold examinations next month for the position of captain in the detective bureau of the Police Department and also for the position of superintendent of streets.

Services Set For Man Killed By Automobile

Services for Lewis E. Lowery, 78, former local resident who was killed instantly Tuesday afternoon when he was struck by a car in Riverdale, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home.

Rev. Harold R. McClay, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Lowery formerly resided at 453 Henderson Avenue, and about three weeks ago he moved to Riverdale to reside with his daughter, Mrs. Robert Lantz.

Prince Georges County Police said Mr. Lowery was killed when he stepped off a concrete island into the path of a car driven by David Harrison, 21, also of Riverdale.

Police added the driver of the car told them a parked car hid Mr. Lowery from his view. Harrison has been charged with manslaughter by auto, police said.

Mr. Lowery was a retired telegrapher for the Western Maryland Railway.

He was a native of Ellerslie and was a son of the late John William and Anna (Cox) Lowery.

Surviving are two other daughters, Mrs. Kathryn Curley, Ridge; and Mrs. Edwin Corrie, Alexandria, Va.; and three grandchildren.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Consultant Hits C&P Objections To Higher Debt

BALTIMORE (AP) — An opponent of a proposed rate increase said Wednesday, in effect, that the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. is too much afraid of going into debt.

The testimony came from David A. Kosh, a Washington public utilities consultant, as a hearing which has been going on intermittently since March came to a close.

Both sides were given 60 days in which to submit written briefs. There will be no oral arguments.

Because the file is so voluminous — one attorney estimated it runs 2,000 pages, including exhibits — it probably will be the end of the year before the PSC hands down its decision.

C & P is asking the Public Service Commission for authority to raise rates to its 800,000 Maryland customers by $31,500,000 a year. It would mean 10 per cent more on the average bill.

Kosh, hired by the PSC for $10,000, was questioned by People's Counsel Rudolph A. Carrico.

At a previous session, C & P Secretary - Treasurer William Johnson had testified that the company's debt ratio should not exceed one-third. This ratio is the value of outstanding company bonds compared to the value of its total assets.

Denies Danger

Kosh suggested that a higher ratio up to 50 or 60 per cent would be perfectly feasible and still give C & P a proper rate of return on its investment.

"Hasn't Mr. Johnson claimed," Carrico asked, "that at the higher debt ratio you suggest bond ratings may deteriorate, yields go up and financial integrity be undermined?"

"Yes," Kosh replied, "he claimed all these things. However, the facts do not bear him out."

Kosh also said, "A higher debt ratio will not have the horrible effects which Mr. Johnson said it would. The commission should not accept C&P's limit of one-third debt ratio."

One thing that Johnson had mentioned was that Associated Telephone Utilities went bankrupt in 1933.

Sees No Parallel

Kosh said Wednesday that the company merely did not have enough money to pay off $3,900,000 in notes due that year — only 4 per cent of its total capital — and so "during the bottom of the worst depression in our history" had to reorganize in 1935.

"Is Mr. Johnson seriously suggesting," he asked, "that this most extraordinary event sheds any light on the ability of the C&P to operate with a 45 to 50 per cent debt ratio?"

Kosh also testified that figures as projected by Johnson actually would produce a 10.6 per cent rate of earnings.

"In view of Mr. Johnson's admission during his rebuttal," he said, "that industrial concerns are riskier and more volatile than utilities, it would be of interest to see how this 10.6 per cent he wants with C&P equity to earn compares with that earned by all manufacturing companies in the country."

Cites Other Earnings

Kosh went on to say that all manufacturing corporations, except newspapers, "earned 9.8 per cent on their book equity" during the first quarter of this year and corporations the size of C&P earned 9.6 per cent.

Besides Kosh, also testifying under questioning by Carrico was E. Edward McLean, Washington auditor, who is chief accountant for Public Utilities Commission in the District.

Services Set For Man Killed By Automobile

Services for Lewis E. Lowery, 78, former local resident who was killed instantly Tuesday afternoon when he was struck by a car in Riverdale, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home.

Rev. Harold R. McClay, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Lowery formerly resided at 453 Henderson Avenue, and about three weeks ago he moved to Riverdale to reside with his daughter, Mrs. Robert Lantz.

Prince Georges County Police said Mr. Lowery was killed when he stepped off a concrete island into the path of a car driven by David Harrison, 21, also of Riverdale.

Police added the driver of the car told them a parked car hid Mr. Lowery from his view. Harrison has been charged with manslaughter by auto, police said.

Mr. Lowery was a retired telegrapher for the Western Maryland Railway.

He was a native of Ellerslie and was a son of the late John William and Anna (Cox) Lowery.

Surviving are two other daughters, Mrs. Kathryn Curley, Ridge; and Mrs. Edwin Corrie, Alexandria, Va.; and three grandchildren.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Consultant Hits C&P Objections To Higher Debt

Disputes Telephone Officials' Testimony

BALTIMORE (AP) — An opponent of a proposed rate increase said Wednesday, in effect, that the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. is too much afraid of going into debt.

The testimony came from David A. Kosh, a Washington public utilities consultant, as a hearing which has been going on intermittently since March came to a close.

Both sides were given 60 days in which to submit written briefs. There will be no oral arguments.

Because the file is so voluminous — one attorney estimated it runs 2,000 pages, including exhibits — it probably will be the end of the year before the PSC hands down its decision.

C & P is asking the Public Service Commission for authority to raise rates to its 800,000 Maryland customers by $31,500,000 a year. It would mean 10 per cent more on the average bill.

Kosh, hired by the PSC for $10,000, was questioned by People's Counsel Rudolph A. Carrico.

At a previous session, C & P Secretary - Treasurer William Johnson had testified that the company's debt ratio should not exceed one-third. This ratio is the value of outstanding company bonds compared to the value of its total assets.

Denies Danger

Kosh suggested that a higher ratio up to 50 or 60 per cent would be perfectly feasible and still give C & P a proper rate of return on its investment.

"Hasn't Mr. Johnson claimed," Carrico asked, "that at the higher debt ratio you suggest bond ratings may deteriorate, yields go up and financial integrity be undermined?"

"Yes," Kosh replied, "he claimed all these things. However, the facts do not bear him out."

Kosh also said, "A higher debt ratio will not have the horrible effects which Mr. Johnson said it would. The commission should not accept C&P's limit of one-third debt ratio."

One thing that Johnson had mentioned was that Associated Telephone Utilities went bankrupt in 1933.

Sees No Parallel

Kosh said Wednesday that the company merely did not have enough money to pay off $3,900,000 in notes due that year — only 4 per cent of its total capital — and so "during the bottom of the worst depression in our history" had to reorganize in 1935.

"Is Mr. Johnson seriously suggesting," he asked, "that this most extraordinary event sheds any light on the ability of the C&P to operate with a 45 to 50 per cent debt ratio?"

Kosh also testified that figures as projected by Johnson actually would produce a 10.6 per cent rate of earnings.
